Work of T. B. Hospital Reviewed In Report

Only 401 Days Accredited to Pay Patients Out of Total of 6,277 Hospital Days' Care—Balance Was Free Treatment—Year's Maintenance Expenses Were $16,991.19—New Hospital Needed.

Following is the annual report of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital for the fiscal year ending November 1, 1928, which has been submitted to the board of supervisors:

To the Board of Supervisors of Ulster County:

The Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital on November 1, 1928, completed its 19th fiscal year as a county institution with the following officers:

Dr. Mary Gage-Day.

Dr. Mark O'Meara.

Edward Young.

Dr. Raymond S. Crispell, medical superintendent of the hospital, and ex-officio, secretary and treasurer of the board of managers.

The hospital is in an anomalous situation in that the plant is owned by the Ulster County Committee for the Prevention of Tuberculosis and is leased to the Board of Supervisors of Ulster County who meet the cost of the budget necessary to carry on the hospital.

Soon after the establishment of the present hospital, admittedly of only temporary construction, it was taxed to its limited capacity of only 22 beds in trying to cope with the tuberculosis situation in Ulster county.

In the last few years, due to the antiquated facilities, there has not been quite such demand for hospitalization, although there has been no decrease in the tuberculosis incident rate and death rate in the county.

In 1927-28 seven more cases were taken care of in the hospital than in 1926-27 as the following table will show.

Patients in the hospital Nov. 1, 1927	18
Patients admitted during fiscal year ending Nov. 1, 1928	30
Total patients under care during year	48
Patients discharged	16
Patients died	14
Total discharged and died	30
Remaining at the close of the year	18

Of the 14 deaths 5 or more than 1-3 died within two weeks admission in the hospital. This is due to the fact that relatives and others bring the patients to the hospital in the very terminal stage of the sickness, thereby committing an injustice to the patient by moving him at this late date and to the hospital in lowering the morale by the presence of a moribund patient. This is a grave mistake in judgment. Ten of the 14 deaths were patients admitted during the year. As it now stands practically only the advanced cases of tuberculosis are hospitalized. This removes foci of infection from the community but is inefficient and is not fulfilling a tuberculosis program.

Twelve patients were discharged as improved, in most cases able to resume their earning capacity.

A total of 6,277 hospital days' care was given of which 401 days were accredited to pay patients and 5,878 to free patients.

The Board of Supervisors appropriated $17,500 for the running expenses during the fiscal year and this was expended as follows:

	Maintenance Expenses
Salaries and wages	$8,926.66
Food, ice and water	5,288.09
Fuel, light and power	1,500.15
Medical and surgical supplies	549.14
Household supplies	186.84
Ordinary repairs	137.20
Miscellaneous, telephone, insurance, association fees, etc.	313.11
Total Maintenance Expenses	$16,991.19

The sum of $1,002.50 was realized from pay patients and this sum is ready to be turned back to the treasurer of Ulster county. Deducting this sum, larger than in recent years, the net cost to the county was $15,988.69, exclusive of $500 rent, the payment of which to the Ulster County Committee for the Prevention of Tuberculosis has been waived.

In 1927 the net cost was $19,073.21, making a saving to the county of $3,084.52 for the fiscal year 1928 over that of 1927.

Due to economical management the cost per hospital day was reduced from $2.95 to $2.70.

The appropriation of $17,500 plus the income from pay patients of $1,002.50 gives a working income of $18,502.50. If from this there is deducted the maintenance expenses of $16,991.19 there is a balance of $1,511.31 but as a deficit of $1,379.92 was carried over from 1927, this balance is reduced to $131.39.

The expenses and hospital days by months were as follows:

Expenses by months		Hospital days by months
November	$1,490.00	520
December	1,367.68	550
January	1,270.98	549
February	1,430.62	494
March	1,518.14	570
April	1,414.22	496
May	1,324.70	492
June	1,261.32	465
July	1,192.86	502
August	1,570.24	542
September	1,462.62	465
October	1,288.00	332
Total	$16,991.19	6277

During the year improvements were made to the plant, a hot water boiler was installed, additions were made to the household supplies. The portable shacks, by means of curtains, linoleum, etc., were made as com-

King George Fighting With Great Strength

Remarkable Rally Which The King Made Last Night Just Before He Saw The Prince of Wales Seems To Have Been Maintained.

London, Dec. 12 (AP).—King George was fighting his grave battle today with wonderful strength.

There was a slightly more hopeful air among Buckingham officials this morning after the medical bulletin had been issued. The bulletin was regarded as favorable. The anxiety which has prevailed during the last two days still continued but it had been lessened.

The fever from which the king is suffering was not quite so active, this being reflected in a lowered temperature, which was considered a good sign.

A remarkable rally which the King made last night just before he saw the Prince of Wales, who made a stirring dash from equatorial Africa to his father's bedside, seemed to have been maintained. This gave an indication of the strength with which the King was fighting his battle.

Hope also was encouraged by the fact that the Queen had not cancelled an engagement to act for the King this afternoon in unveiling a war memorial. She left the palace shortly before 2 o'clock. The Prince of Wales spent nearly two hours at Buckingham Palace this afternoon.

While some quarters assumed that the Prince of Wales would not have rushed to Buckingham Palace if the end of the King had not been near, it was insisted at the palace that he would not have been allowed to see the King had physicians regarded the excitement which would attend it as likely to have an effect immediately dangerous.

Wales Visits His Father.

When the prince first arrived at the palace it was announced that he was not allowed to see his father. Later it was stated, however, that he did see the King. But the visit was not prolonged for fear of tiring the patient.

These contradictory statements were explained unofficially today by the announcement that the King was sleeping when his son and heir arrived but that he awoke before the Prince left the Palace and as his condition showed some improvement it was decided that the visit might be permitted without risk.

In view of the prolonged strain to which the King's constitution has been subjected it was generally felt today that serious developments might occur at any hour.

The Prince's return was widely welcomed and his 6,500-mile dash to his father's bedside was regarded as a record for European travel.

It was believed that the Prince in his keen anxiety to reach home as soon as possible to be with his father and family in the grave crisis wished to fly a considerable part of the journey and that arrangements had been made for a service of fast planes. It was understood, however, that the government decided such a risk was too great and persuaded the Prince from carrying it out.

The heir to the throne was met on his landing on English soil at Folkestone by Prime Minister Baldwin. The Duke of York met them at Victoria station when they arrived on the boat train in London. The Prince looked well after his hunting trip, but his face showed strain from his anxiety and his forced long journey by land and sea.

When the Prince clasped hands with his brother at the station he listened with the most acute concern to the message which the Duke brought of the state of their father. Strong relief showed on the face of the Duke. He alone of the four sons had been present to aid and comfort his mother and the royal household during the time of this great and continuing trial.

The Prince dashed from the station and entered the Palace by the garden entrance, which is a private way used exclusively by members of the royal family. There was no official greeting since Sir Derk Keppel, master of the household, and other officials were waiting at the privy purse door and the Prince avoided them by entering the other doorway.

At the Palace the Prince was shown into the apartments of the Queen and he and his mother were left alone together to give reciprocal comfort under the still menacing shadow of the illness. The Prince also conferred with the physicians who have been attending his father. Shortly before midnight he left the Palace with the Duke of York, accompanying his brother to the Duke's home in Piccadilly. Then the prince went to his own residence, York House.

1929 License Plates Going Slow

Last-Minute Rush Will Result Unless Automobile Owners Secure Plates Now — 1,000 Sets Have Been Issued.

Despite elaborate arrangements made by the State Motor Vehicle Bureau to give people of the state an opportunity to secure automobile license plates early and thus avoid the last minute congestion, few people are taking advantage of the arrangement and there will be the usual last minute rush in this county unless more plates are issued within the next few days.

In order to avoid the last minute congestion and to give people an opportunity to secure plates at their leisure the issuing of plates was commenced six weeks before they were required to be used. More than half that time has expired and up to Tuesday evening only 1,000 sets of plates had been issued in Ulster county from the motor vehicle bureau at 237 Fair street. Deputy County Clerk Finger and his force will be again faced with a last-minute rush and the automobile owners will again find themselves standing in line for hours on the last few days unless they secure their plates now.

The 1929 plates may be displayed five days prior to January 1.

Indications are that since only 1,000 plates have been issued during the first three weeks period of issuing the last part of the period prior to the first of the year, when all cars will have to display the new plates or keep off the roads, will find the motor vehicle office sadly overworked and people standing in line for hours while probably from 8,000 to 10,000 plates are being issued.

Plates may be secured by personal application at the office or by mailing in the application accompanied by the fee. The plates will be shipped out the day the application is received.

Wants Whalen to Succeed Warren

New York, Dec. 12 (AP).—Though Mayor Walker made no statement it became known today that the Mayor is exerting insistent pressure upon Grover A. Whalen in an effort to induce him to take over the duties of police commissioner at once.

Commissioner Joseph A. Warren, whose department has been criticized for its conduct of the Arnold Rothstein murder case, said that he had not rendered his resignation and that all information about the possibility of his resignation would have to come from city hall.

It was learned that the Mayor wants Whalen, who is chief executive of the Wanamaker store here and chairman of the Mayor's reception committee for the reception of distinguished visitors, to take over the post this coming Saturday.

Since the Rothstein investigation began the Mayor has called Commissioner Warren, a close friend, to his office several times for conferences on the case and has made no secret of his dissatisfaction with police progress in the matter.

8 Policemen Shot By Crazed Negro

Chicago, Dec. 12 (AP).—Eight policemen were shot and wounded by a crazed negro who barricaded himself in a flat for five hours before the police succeeded in breaking into the building where he had held them at bay. His body was riddled with bullets. He was taken to a hospital.

The negro died a few minutes after arriving at the hospital.

Scores of police and firemen, using riot guns, revolvers, streams of water and tear bombs, battled the man.

The negro had smashed a store window and when a police squad pursued he ran into the Townsend street building. A call for reserves was made, and Officer Fontaine fell under the negro's fire as the relief squad attempted to rush the building.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT AT TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL

The Christmas festival entertainment at the Tuberculosis Hospital this year will occur on Friday afternoon, December 28, at four o'clock and the program which promises to be unusually delightful will be provided by a group of friends from the Fair Street Reformed Church. Contributions are coming in well for the Christmas gifts. Further contributions should be sent as promptly as possible now to Mrs. C. N. Reed, 43 Crown street, Kingston, N. Y.

AMBULANCE WITH DYING CHILD IN IT WRECKED ON TUESDAY

Speeding down Church street, Poughkeepsie, with a dying child clasped in her mother's arms, the Vassar Hospital ambulance Tuesday morning was struck by a Nash taxi and wrecked. The child, Mary Soels, 5, died an hour later. The mother, Mrs. Howard Soels, and the taxi driver, Charles Howe, 25, negro, are in serious condition in Vassar Hospital. Nial Markle, the ambulance driver, and Dr. Ford Lucas, hospital physician, were less seriously injured.

Ulster County Automobile Club Annual Meeting

All Officers Re-elected and E. Stanbrough Elected Director—Dr. Michael Tells of School Boy Patrol—Captain Moore of State Police Gives Interesting Talk.

The annual meeting of the Ulster County Automobile Club was held Monday evening, December 10, at the Masonic Club rooms on Broadway, and proved to be a very enthusiastic and successful meeting.

The following officers were re-elected: Mr. Simpkins, president; E. Swart, vice president; Ward B. Everett, treasurer; B. S. Suskind, secretary; T. D. Hotaling, director; E. Stanbrough, was elected for a term of three years as director.

President Simpkins stated that during his term of three years, as president, he was gratified to know that there had been a steady increase in membership.

The club has added Insurance Policy, Road Service, Registration of Keys, and a number of other practical services to its members.

Mr. Simpkins in his talk, explained the situation of the State Association and the State Legislature. The result of this year's work was summed up in the fact that only two of all bills proposed, which were sponsored by the State Automobile Association, were not passed. There was also not a bill passed, which was not approved by the association. The State Association has thoroughly investigated compulsory insurance laws in other states and find that it is a failure and will have to be revised. The people can be led, but not forced.

To correct a misunderstanding in the minds of a great many people, regarding the gas bill, that the club is opposed to gas tax. No club wishes to state that this is wrong. There is only one condition on which the club approves of a gas tax, and that is to be assured that all money will go for roads, and roads only.

The question was raised as to boulevard stop lights of all streets, turning into main traffic—instead of traffic lights. This is approved by the club. The State Association is now investigating to make a uniform traffic law, throughout the state and asked all motorists for suggestions.

Schoolboy Patrol.

Professor Michael, Superintendent of Schools, gave a very interesting talk on the Schoolboy Patrol. He said that this Patrol which was sponsored by the club, has been in operation, and that not a single child has been hit while the patrol has been on duty. These boys feel the responsibility and report to the principal the children who do not obey. The motorists are also considerate, and only one report has been sent in that a motorist did not stop when asked to do so. Dr. Michael, told an interesting story that one of the schools caught about five culprits, and the penalty for each was that he write the sentence "I must cross the street between the white lines," 50 times. They are not only saving lives—they are learning good citizenship.

A rising vote of thanks was given Professor Michael, and Chief Wood for their cooperation on the Schoolboy Patrol.

Asks Motorists to Secure Plates Early.

Mr. Bogart, introduced John J. Malone, District Manager of the Automobile Association. Mr. Malone opened his talk with a plea for Mr. Hunter, who has 2,500,000 plates to be distributed and that Ulster county used 22,444 license plates for the year 1928, but up to the present only 500 have been sold. There is only a short time to go before the first of the year. They therefore ask all motorists to get their plates early.

The following figures were given by Mr. Malone: In 1901 there were 954 cars in the State of New York. In 1902, 1064; in 1927, 1,826,626; in 1928, 2,789,453. The income from licenses for 1927 was $28,786,421 and in 1928 $34,207,285. Seventy-five per cent of this goes to State Highways and 25 per cent to the county.

The Department of Accidents at Albany shows that 56,926 people were injured from January 1 to September 1 and 1,692 people killed in this state, most of them being children.

Licenses have been issued to three million chauffeurs and operators.

Talks on Work of State Troopers.

Captain Moore of the State Police, head of the Police Schools, was next introduced. He gave an extremely interesting talk covering all phases of troop work. He also stated that there are only 514 troopers in the entire state, and a movement is now being made by the state association for an increase in state troopers. Taking up the question of headlights, Captain Moore said he thought restriction should be put on the manufacturers. Manufacturers should be required that before automobiles can be sold they must have headlights with focus fixed and one that does not exceed the limitations specified by the law. And then destroy the 1912 and 1913 automobiles on the road and the headlight problem will have been solved.

One Way to Eliminate Accidents.

In reference to accidents, Captain Moore says that there is only one way to eliminate these, and that is for every driver of an automobile, when he sits behind the wheel, to mix up his gas with a little bit of common everyday courtesy. This is the only way, and if every driver would use his brain, and think of the other fellow, there would be a whole lot less accidents. Most of the people killed are pedestrians. The pedestrian, as a rule does the unusual thing, such as darting out from behind a parked car, or running across the street. If the people would use the crosswalks, the Court of Appeals, says he has the right of way.

Mr. Malone ended his talk with the words, "You haven't any traffic question here, because you have Chief Allan Wood, and he is so good that he is one of the official instructors of the troop school and he knows his onions."

A rising vote of thanks was given John Malone and Captain Moore.

Music was furnished gratuitously by Joseph Van Buren and his orchestra and was enthusiastically received by the members.

The following towns of the county were represented: Ulster, Woodstock, Shawangunk, Rosendale, Hurley, Esopus and Wallkill, besides those present from the city of Kingston.

On motion, the meeting was adjourned and light refreshments were served.

Local Dry Agents Raid Three Places

Visit Newburgh and Millerton and Secure Evidence of Sale and Possession in Violation of Prohibition Law.

Orange and Dutchess counties received the attention of the prohibition agents from the Kingston office of the enforcement department Tuesday and raids were made at Newburgh and Millerton. In both places saloons were visited and in both places evidence of sale and possession was secured.

Tuesday afternoon the agents first visited the place at 61 Mill street, Newburgh, where they seized a quantity of alleged apple jack, rye whiskey and beer and placed under arrest the proprietor, Samuel Nicoletti, who gave his residence as 48 Washington Terrace.

Later the agents visited 272 Washington street, Newburgh, where they seized a large quantity of alleged apple jack, kegs of beer and 500 gallons of wine. The owner of the place, Frank De Vasto, and the bartender, Attilio Di Nitto, both of whom gave their address as 272 Washington street, were placed under arrest.

All three defendants were held in $1,000 bail each on being arraigned before Recorder George D. Overhelser and will be arraigned before U. S. Commisisoner Crist at Middletown on December 21. The charge against all three will be sale and possession.

Later the agents crossed the river and were next heard from at Millerton, Dutchess county, where they descended upon the Brick Block Hotel and seized a large quantityof alleged gin, apple jack, rye whiskey and hard cider. The owner of the place, James W. Maloney, was arrested together with his bartender, James L. Leahey. Both defendants furnished $1,000 bail on being arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. L. Delaney of Millerton for their appearance in New York city later. They, too, will be charged with sale and possession under sections of the National prohibition law.

Get $100,000 in Daylight Holdup

Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP).—In a daylight holdup in the heart of this city's business section seven or eight robbers opened fire this morning on the collection car of the First National Bank and escaped with a $100,000 payroll after wounding one of the bank guards.

The collection car, a partially armored automobile, was transporting the payroll from the post office to the bank for later delivery to the Alexander Smith & Sons' Carpet Company. Two bank guards and a city policeman were riding in the car.

Frustrate Plot To Bomb Herbert Hoover's Train

Police Find Guns, Bombs, Ammunition and a Detailed Map—Two Men Under Arrest—Fifteen Hundred Guards Will Be Employed to Insure Safety.

Buenos Aires, Dec. 12 (AP).—A plot to bomb Herbert Hoover's special train has been frustrated. With two men under arrest police today were continuing their search for any anti-American agitators who might be involved.

Fifteen hundred guards will be employed on special duty to insure the safety of the United States president-elect when he arrives tomorrow and during his visit.

President Irigoyen in a statement on the plot said police in searching a house in Estomba street found four hand grenades, two cylindrical bombs, one square bomb, dynamite, revolvers, automatic pistols and quantities of ammunition. They also found 150 ten1-peso notes. All of these have been placed in the hands of the judicial authorities.

The police announced that a room in the raided house contained a detailed map of the railway system. The map apparently had been used by the plotters to plan their attack. Police believe they intended to place the bombs on the tracks just before the arrival of the Hoover special train, which is due late tomorrow afternoon. It was thought that the bombs were to have been deposited somewhere near the outskirts of the city.

Police Arrest Two Men.

Police in raiding the house arrested a youth who said he was Carlos Gutierez, aged 18. The authorities said, however, the real name of the youth was Alejandro Romano and that he was 21 but posed as younger in hope of obtaining leniency under the minors' law. They described him as a student of Chemistry and they believed that he manufactured the bombs.

Later a second man was arrested near the house. He gave the name of Jaime Oliver, but police said he was Jaime Castro, a chauffeur.

President Irigoyen, in a statement on the plot, said: "The President of the Republic, being desirous of making agreeable the visit of the President-elect of the United States of America and of offering the greatest possible guarantee of safety to the personnel of the illustrious visitor, commanded the police to intensify their observations of dangerous elements."

The President added that this order had been carried out by the division of investigations which discovered the house which was raided.

Police Active for a Week.

Although only two men were officially announced to have been arrested it was generally known today that the police had been active for a week in picking up suspects. These suspects will be confined until after the departure of Mr. Hoover. The authorities not only are determined to prevent any plots against Mr. Hoover but also are determined to put down any public demonstration against the United States.

Since the bombing of the National City Bank on Christmas eve last year, when two persons were killed and 20 injured, police vigilance in guarding the United States Embassy and Consulate, the American Club and buildings housing American firms has not been relaxed. A bomb was discovered last month on the steps of the Buenos Aires Cathedral which is across the street from the National City Bank. As it was being taken to the police station it exploded and a pedestrian was killed. This was believed to be a part of a general program of agitation against American interests in Argentina. The perpetrators were never arrested.

ROSS STORES, INC., HAVE NEW $500,000 STRUCTURE.

A modern department store, costing $500,000, was completed last week in Yonkers and is the latest addition to the Ross Stores, Inc., of which the Van Wagenen store is a unit. The new building, which has a frontage of 100 feet with spacious show windows, is composed of 25 different departments and is situated in the shopping center of Yonkers.

The position of confidential secretary to the county attorney at $1,200 a year, and the position of confidential stenographer to the county superintendent of highways at $1,200 a year were recommended to be created by the committee on salaries in its report to the board of supervisors at the session held on Tuesday evening. There were a number of increases in salaries recommended, among them being that of the county treasurer from $3,500 to $6,000. This increase was recommended, it was said, because the state comptroller had ruled that it was illegal for county treasurers to appropriate to their benefit any fees received in the performance of county duties. By this ruling it is estimated that an average of $4,000 a year will be turned back to the general fund in fees heretofore retained by the county treasurers. The recommendation for the increase is to compensate the county treasurer for fees he will lose and the county will benefit although the salary is increased. The superintendent of county highways, because of the very large increase in his work, is to have an increase of $1,000 a year. Other increases are second deputy county clerk, $200 a year; assistant janitor court house, $200; deputy county clerk, $200; clerk of surrogate's court, $200; stenographer to county treasurer, $150; deputy county treasurer, $200; deputy clerk board of supervisors, $200; clerk of board of elections, $100; stenographer board of elections, $100. Last year the total salary list was $80,930, against $89,949.56 per report.

Two Offices Created.

The committee recommended that there be created the position of confidential secretary to the county attorney at an annual salary of $1,200, payable in monthly installments, and also that there be created the position of stenographer to the county superintendent of highways at $1,200 a year, payable in monthly installments, and that the civil service commission of the state of New York place these offices in the exempt class by reason of the positions being of a confidential nature.

The committee further recommended there be levied upon the county $73,450.32 which together with the amounts transferred from receipts from county clerk and sheriff to the salary accounts will be sufficient to meet the salaries to be paid during the ensuing year. Also that $1,650 be appropriated to pay deputy clerk and assistant clerks of the board of supervisors, as per resolution adopted January, 1928. It was recommended that in addition there be appropriated and assessed upon the taxable property of the county outside of the city of Kingston the sum of $3,400 to pay the salaries of the county superintendent of the poor and county sealer of weights and measures. Filed and later a resolution to adopt that recommendation was offered and laid over under the rule.

Salaries and Employment.

The committee on salaries and employment of county officers submitted the following report.

We recommend that the salary of each county official, county officer, deputy county officer, and of each county employe in the several county offices, and the number and grade of deputies, clerks, assistants and employes in the various county offices, be fixed as follows:

Sheriff	$ 3,500

Ask Freedom to Kill Black Bears

Farmers of Essex County Want Restrictions Removed Because Bears Are Killing Pigs and Sheep—Increase Until They Become a Nuisance.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP).—The black bear, hunted relentlessly by the pioneer settlers in the Adirondacks and their descendants until threatened with extermination, is again in disgrace after several years during which he has been protected by state game laws.

Essex county farmers have been complaining for some time that members of the bruin tribe have been killing pigs and sheep. So many of these complaints have been received that the Essex county board of supervisors has passed a resolution asking that the State Conservation Department immediately abolish the 11 months' protection given the bears each year.

Another count in the indictment brought against the Adirondack bears is that they are killing fawns and menacing the Adirondack deer herds. There is some dispute on this point, but no farmer has come to the defense of the bears on the charge of sheep killing. One of the largest bears killed in northern Essex county in recent years was shot a few weeks ago while devouring a sheep that it had killed and carried from a nearby pasture.

A few years ago many of the mountain counties were paying bounties on black bears; now, under the state game laws, they are rigidly protected for eleven months out of the year. It has been claimed that as a result of this protection the animals are increasing rapidly although many are killed during the brief open season.

Older residents in the Adirondacks cling to their lifelong theory that the black bear needs no protection—being fully able to protect himself. These persons assert that, given protection, the bears increase in a surprisingly short time to the point of becoming a nuisance, and they cite Essex county as an example.

They call attention to the fact that owing to their habit of hibernating during the winter, the bears are safe in their dens for several months and need no protection during that time.

The old-time hunters and trappers, many of whom made their living by hunting bears, nearly all are dead, and the amateur hunter or trapper has a slim chance against the cunning of the black bear.

Protected or unprotected, the black bears of the mountains still form one of the features of this region, either from the viewpoint of the hunter who seeks a bearskin rug, or the motor tourist who catches an occasional glimpse of a hulking black shadow in the woods that fringe the highways of the Adirondacks.

"Sterling" Silver.

The word "sterling" as applied to silver signifies that the alloy is in the proportion of 925 parts silver to 75 parts of copper. This proportion is regularly fixed as the standard of fineness of British silver coinage. Standard United States silver bullion contains 900 parts pure silver and 100 parts copper alloy.

Holds City Liable for Impure Water

The Supreme Court of the United States has sustained a judgment of the Supreme Court of California affirming a judgment against a California city which sustained a recovery for deaths resulting from typhoid fever due to a polluted water supply. The court holds that where a city maintains a municipal water supply for which it collects pay from those who use it, it is charged with the duty of seeing that the supply is free from pollution of any character, and that it is required to maintain and sustain bacteriological investigation of its water supply.

In this particular case, it was urged that 19 of the persons who died from typhoid fever might have contracted the disease from a milk supply or had become infected while visiting other places. It, however, appeared that the water supply furnished by the city did contain typhoid germs, that they had existed for an indefinite period that the city had been urged to establish a bacteriological laboratory and failed to do so.

The court held that the supposition that the disease might have been contracted from outside sources purely was conjecture in view of the fact that the municipal supply did contain the typhoid germs, that municipalities should be held to a strict accountability in the investigation not only of water but of milk and of all foods for the sale of which a granted a license.

This decision which covers a wide range of liability is of course applicable to all municipalities including Kingston, which thus far has been fortunate in all these respects due to the careful inspection not only of water but of milk.

CLOSING OUT SALE WILL END SATURDAY

Owing to the steady stream of bargain seekers, who have purchased a great amount of merchandise, the closing out sale at the late Joseph Block store on lower Broadway, will end this Saturday instead of the week of January 1.

Edward Dlugitch and L. Weisgal, both of Newark, who are conducting the sale, did not plan on closing it until January for they figured it would take that length of time to dispose of the vast amount of goods. But purchasers seemed to be more than satisfied with goods conservatively purchased at the Block sale and told their friends of the bargains.

So owing to the steady drain on the Block stock the sale will not last as long as scheduled. But the men in charge of the sale plan to give everyone a chance to get a good buy before the store closes and will hold dollar day sales on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. It is expected that many will take advantage of the opportunity to shop at a promised saving, and stock up for the cold weather with their winter's supply.

Some boys are small for their age and so are some men.

Coolidge Lauds Heroes of the Air

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP).—The elite of the air assembled here today at the International Civil Aeronautics Conference and heard President Coolidge single out past and present heroes who have done "much to make America air-minded."

Recalling the progress of man's efforts to conquer the air since before Christ, the president generously praised the Wright brothers, who 25 years ago accomplished the first flight.

"Others whose names will be long remembered had done much to solve the problem," the President said, "but it remained for the able, persistent and modest Wright brothers from Dayton to demonstrate completely the possibility of a machine raising itself by its own power and carrying man in sustained flight."

Mr. Coolidge called attention to the "wonderful and spectacular flight to Paris of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, and to his countrywide tour which "did much to make America air-minded."

Orville Wright, the first man to fly, is guest of honor at the conference, to which forty nations have sent representatives. Colonel Lindbergh was seated with the 12 members of the American delegation, appointed by President Coolidge to represent the United States in the three-day discussion of world aeronautical problems.

POUGHKEEPSIE MAN PLEADED GUILTY TO THEFT OF $23,945

Walter J. Wesley, 52, former assistant treasurer and floor manager of the Poughkeepsie Trust Company, pleaded guilty to the theft of $23,945.46, from the bank which formerly employed him when he went before Judge Joseph M. Fowler, who held court in Poughkeepsie on Tuesday. Following the plea there followed an avalanche of pleas for mercy on the part of the court by a number of prominent residents of Poughkeepsie. The passing of sentence was deferred by Judge Fowler until Thursday morning.

Chattel Mortgage Action Taken Up

In Supreme court this morning the trial of an action for foreclosure of a chattel mortgage was taken up for trial. The action is brought by Henry Erichsen of Highland against Joseph Falci, Vera Seaman and John R. Seaman. Falci has not put in an answer. The suit grows out of the possession of an ice cream parlor in Highland which was originally operated by Falci, who in part payment for fixtures gave a chattel mortgage. Later Falci evidently left and the property was conducted by Mrs. Pampamelli. Seaman claims that he purchased the business and paid off what he alleges was all claims due and turned the business over to his daughter.

The mortgage in question he alleges was not a proper lien on the property and he claims that the sheriff had no right to close out the business and take possession. He alleges that the chattel mortgage was not recorded within a year and that when he purchased the business for his daughter he paid all just claims, and secured a release of the property from Constable Collins who had possession of the property under the foreclosure of the chattel mortgage. This release he alleges was secured from Judge Carpenter and that he took possession under the release. Erichsen bought the notes given in payment for the mortgage from the original owner.

The payment of certain notes due under the mortgage are involved in the action and numerous transactions involving several people of Highland.

Erichsen was the first witness called by plaintiff and then District Attorney Reynolds of Dutchess county was called by Seaman out of order to permit Mr. Reynolds to get away. Reynolds acted as attorney in the purchase of the place by Seaman and attempted to straighten out some of the legal tangle.

The trial of the case proceeded slowly with many objections and a great amount of argument. Seaman, who is not a lawyer, appeared in person and also for his daughter until Mr. Lent objected to Mr. Seaman appearing for another party since he was not an attorney at law. The objection was sustained and Vera Seaman was permitted to secure counsel.

Seaman has appeared in many cases in various courts in his own behalf and at present is on the jail limits due to failure to pay a judgment which was secured in supreme court but which Mr. Seaman contends is an unjust judgment.

The case evidently will take all day and extend into Thursday.

Harold A. Lent and John F. Wadlin appear for Erichsen.

POUGHKEEPSIE TAX RATE TO BE $39.52 PER $1,000

The total city tax rate for 1929 of Poughkeepsie will be $39.52 per $1,000, or an increase of $2.56 over this year. The tax rate for next year was announced by City Treasurer Deel on Tuesday after he had received a report of the state and county rates from the Dutchess county board of supervisors.

MRS. HORTON CONFIDENT CONCERTS WILL BE A SUCCESS

Kingston is responding splendidly to the efforts of the Community Concert Association workers according to Mrs. Louise Horton who is assisting Dr. Spaeth in forming the Kingston Association.

Although a Kingstonian by birth, taking up the Community Concert work here after similar activities in a large number of cities, including Auburn, Watertown, Bridgeport, etc., Mrs. Horton in an interview today expressed confidence in Kingston and the possibilities of success in carrying out this project in a gratifying way reaching at least the minimum. There is a desire and determination manifest which makes for success. Eliminating risk of any kind is an important factor. The special rate to students cannot be too strongly stressed. They represent the Musical America of tomorrow.

Mrs. Horton organized the Ellenville Musical Club which numbered about 100 members and became one of the wide awake clubs in both the State and National Federation of Music Clubs. She has become chairman of the Ellenville committee of the Community Concert Association. The committee includes Mrs. John H. Divine, Mrs. Bert H. Terwilliger, and Mrs. C. D. Divine.

Membership enrollment will continue during the present week both in Kingston and surrounding towns. Reports of memberships to date are expected at the meeting on Thursday at 4 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. which Dr. Spaeth will attend. If each member will induce a friend or friends to join the results will be surprising in a short time.

AYRES ARRIVE IN FLORIDA FOR WINTER

Former Congressman and Mrs. Steven B. Ayres of Woodstock, who motored to Clearwater, Fla., to spend their tenth winter in that state, arrived at their home at North Fort Harrison avenue and Sunset Point drive on Saturday, December 8. Their motor trip to the south was a very pleasant one, and they enjoyed several stop-overs on the journey.

One of the events enjoyed on the eleven-day's trip was the football game between the University of Virginia and University of North Carolina, at Charlottesville in the latter school's state. President Coolidge attended the game, which was played on Thanksgiving Day. They visited Thomas Jefferson's old home, Monticello, and term it a wonderful place.

Mr. Ayres likely will enjoy this winter at his home, which overlooks the Gulf of Mexico, and is situatted on Stephenson's creek. He can sit in his own back yard and catch trout and redfish.

P.-T. A. No. 5 Meeting.

At the regular business meeting of P.-T. A. No. 5 held Tuesday afternoon plans were made for Christmas gifts of candy to children of the entire school. Home Missionary Meeting.

The Home Missionary Society of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold a business meeting at Epworth Hall Thursday at 2:30 p. m.

P.-T. A. No. 8 Meeting.

The Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 8 held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. A chorus of girls from Miss Hayes's room sang and acted a Cooking Song especially adapted to this season.

Mrs. Boerker gave a splendid report on the convention of the Parent-Teacher Association at Niagara Falls. She gave the account in such an interesting way that all present felt they had received almost as much inspiration as if they had been there. After hearing what the P.-T. A. is accomplishing the members believe there is a great deal of truth in the saying:

"It is better to understand the child than the mechanism of a car. It is better to have a good P.T. A. than a good golf club."

CRIMINALS AND SCAPEGOATS.

In the vast majority of cases the convicted criminal seeks to shift the blame from himself and make a scapegoat of something, which is usually "liquor", the sins thus piled on the back of "rum" being mountainous in proportions. Occasionally there is an interesting variation from this overworked formula. Thus that notorious young murderer, William Edward Hickman, pitched upon "overeducation" as the cause of his monstrous crime, possibly drawing inspiration from the chatter about the "poisonous" foreign books that had been read by Leopold before he and Loeb were brought to the bar for the cold-blooded murder of an inoffensive boy.

Obviously the Hickman plea is ridiculous, yet it is interesting as a reminder of the popular fallacy that education is regenerating in its effect. Although in itself an economic necessity and otherwise of immense service, education, on the contrary, merely sharpens the wits and increases the power for harm of the person who is wilfully headed in the wrong direction. It may or may not increase freedom of choice, and with or without it there is such freedom even in the midst of seductive temptation. It is given to the neglected street gamin as well as to the pampered son of wealth. For even the former learns from the mere presence of the policeman on the corner, if within reach of no further enlightenment, that there are things properly condemned as wrong and that must not be done.

BATHS IN ANCIENT GREECE.

Cincinnati will have to look to its laurels as the first city to possess a bathtub—a contrivance of wood lined with sheet lead which is said to have been constructed there some time before the middle of the nineteenth century. For among the discoveries of Prof. David Moore Robinson, of Johns Hopkins University, on the site of the ancient city of Olynthus in the north of Greece were marble bathtubs "not unlike the models of today", showing that something better than the Cincinnati articles was in use at least 2,276 years ago, that being the date of the destruction of Olynthus by Philip of Macedon, a date too far back to identify the bathtubs of Olynthus as a Roman innovation. The point is that the Olynthus constructions were private bathtubs in luxurious homes, a different development from the great public baths of Rome and other cities of the ancient world.

Public baths were known to have existed in Greece before Olynthus was razed by King Philip, and in "Modern Traits in Old Greek Life" by Prof. Gulick of Harvard it is shown that, although there was no soap of the present type, they had what served the purpose in addition to oil, powders and towels. It is related that Socrates carefully bathed before he drank the deadly hemlock to which he was condemned. We are even assured that "the bathtub figures conspicuously in Greek art and letters", and the evidence appears to be complete that it was included in the amazingly rich legacy which ancient Greece bequeathed to the world.

THE LANGUAGE LINK.

King George's critical illness, the hurried journey home of the Prince of Wales, the appointment of regents, etc.—all this is "news" in the United States to a far greater extent than it would be if any other foreign country than Great Britain were in similar distress. Our newspapers feature it all daily, knowing the popular interest at a time when so much sympathy for and good will toward the royal family and the English people is felt and finds expression in the great American republic.

After all, the two mighty branches of the English-speaking race are very near together, relatively speaking. The link of language is perhaps the most important one, but to it is added that of law, literature and far-reaching tradition. There are no such links between the United States and France or any other nation of Europe. To a large extent the United States and England have a common heritage. Though they have made war on each other and may do so again—as both kindred nations and individuals will—they have more in common than other separate nations. And this is why the present distress in London reaches over to us to a greater degree than it would from Berlin or Rome or even from Paris.

King George's illness is attributed to the exposure of his uncovered head to cold and rain while standing before the cenotaph on Armistice Day. Similar risk was incurred by eminent men in other countries, including our own. The rigid etiquette on such occasions is likely to defy modification even for the winter season, and yet it ought to be possible to honor death without imperilling life.

An actress deducted $1,524 massage charges from her income-tax report as a legitimate business expense and, when the claim was disallowed, carried it before the Appeals Board. The cost of such "upkeep" by an actress does seem to be a legitimate deduction for, among all women, she has the most reason and right to quote: "'My face is my fortune, sir,' she said."

People are becoming "worried," according to the New York Times, because so many young persons nowadays "shun books," even the lightest, in preference to the radio, the movies and automobile rides. They don't know what they are missing and it is feared that they may never know.

The Florida Times-Union laments that if you put a little sugar in a gallon of grape juice and let it stand "it is bound to violate something or other."

SUGAR SAVING LIVES.

Sandow, the strong man, had a habit of eating taffy a few minutes before he went on the stage to do his "strong man" act. Football players during rest periods are often supplied with molasses taffy, chocolate bars, or other forms of candy.

Many swimmers before entering distance swims in cold water have a habit of eating candy.

What is there about sugar that makes it such a valuable food?

It is the speed or short time that is required to have it available in the blood.

However, there are ailments in which sugar cannot be eaten, because the sugar causes gas in stomach or intestine; cases where it would cause nausea and vomiting; other cases in which the patient is unconscious and so cannot avail himself of this valuable food. And this food is so valuable and physicians so anxious to get it into the patient's blood that they are now injecting a sugar solution directly into the muscles.

Sugar is not only valuable in itself as a food, but it is necessary also for breaking up fat, and thus making fat also available for the needs of the body. Fat next to sugar, is the principal source of energy for the body.

Dr. Jerome Glaser, Chicago, who has done considerable work with this method, reports his own and other cases of pneumonia and broncho-pneumonia in which the injection of sugar so enriched the blood that the heart, which after all is only muscle, was immediately strengthened and able to carry the patient past the crisis.

Your doctor will tell you that it is not usually Flu, broncho-pneumonia or pneumonia, that causes death, but that the heart simply gets tired out trying to pump blood through congested areas. It is comforting to know that this new and safe method of increasing the blood sugar is now known and available.

It means the saving of many lives where other methods of feeding are impossible, and other heart stimulants have been unavailing.

Remember also that sugar is a good cheap food.

THE AWAKENING!

SING CANTATA SUNDAY AT RHINEBECK CHURCH

The beautiful cantata, Bethlehem by J. H. Maunder will be sung at the Church of the Messiah, Rhinebeck, on Sunday afternoon, December 16, at four o'clock. The rendering of this work by the chorus choir of thirty members with special soloists will mark the opening of the Christmas festivities and will be up to the established standard of the music of that church. Two years ago this great work was sung by the choir to the delight of an overflowing church as well as to a large number of people who heard it over the radio. Since then the new Memorial Chancel has been installed which not only adds beauty to the church but places the choir within the chancel so that it is better arranged for good acoustic effects.

Bethlehem is a cantata which through choruses, recitatives and solos tells the story of the Nativity. It opens with a solo by the shepherd boy telling of the stillness of the night on Bethlehem plains in the midst of which comes the angelic host with the glad tidings. Then follow the visit of the Shepherds and the gifts of the wise men and the other parts of the well known story. The soloists are Mrs. Carlton Sipperley and Mrs. Joseph Cookingham, sopranos; Harold McCall, tenor, and Albert E. Webb, baritone.

News From the World on Wheels

Among the new models to be announced at the New York Automobile Show in January, is said to be a new straight eight produced by the Peerless Motor Car Corporation. It is well known in automobile circles that Peerless engineers have been working on such a car ever since early this year. According to advices received from the big factory in Cleveland, the new Eight will be a car of exceeding high quality with a wheelbase of around 135 inches.

A flood of orders unparalleled in the history of the company is the public's answer to Auburn's new series of sixes at $995 and straight eights at $1,395, which were given their first public showing December 2. Marked by an enthusiasm seldom reached over the advent of a new line of cars thousands of prospects have viewed the new series and convinced themselves of the values being offered. Reports coming into the company from dealers and distributors in the various parts of the country show an enthusiasm and acceptance by the public that is little less than phenomenal. Factory production has been pushed to the limit to take care of the rush of orders which is pouring in and every effort is being made in the Shipping Department to get the cars out.

The Reo Motor Car Company has announced a new model of the Reo Flying Cloud, to be known as "Reo Flying Cloud—The Mate." It is in general a smaller edition of Reo Flying Cloud—The Master, which was introduced two years ago. The outstanding features of The Mate are speed, the high efficiency of its braking system, its general appearance and the attractive color combinations in its paint work and upholstery. The use with safety of the full speed and power of this new model is made possible by four-wheel internal expanding hyrdraulic brakes of an unusually efficient design. The Mate appears in sport and standard models of a five passenger sedan and two passenger coupe the latter being offered either with rumble seat or rear baggage compartment.

A new six cylinder light delivery truck of the most advanced engineering design, has been added to the White Company's present line of light delivery models, according to an announcement made by President Walter C. White. The new truck, known as Model 60, is of sturdy construction and its six cylinder engine and four wheel hydraulic brakes have been designed to give greater performance and safety under present day traffic conditions. Deliveries are to begin about the middle of January.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

RIDING FOR A FALL

THE man or woman who cannot hold a good position without plotting the fall of others, is riding for a fall.

Should you know a wily intriguer, go far out of your way to avoid him; he forms no more than a hideous background for the daubing of a picture whose horrible drawing and color brings nothing but sorrow. But such pictures sometimes serve a good purpose.

There is nothing rightly thought or truthfully written on defamers of characters that does not in some line or another contain a bit of personal experience.

The effect that Machiavellian tricksters produce on the lives of striving men and women is altogether out of proportion with the cause. So pay no attention to their scandal; carry none of their tales; take no part in their stealthy, selfish schemes, designed to bring some innocent persons into contempt and to deprive him or her from making a meager livelihood.

Having no character of his own, the serpent blackens the character of others, smiling as he does it.

He has done it many times, getting harder and more cruel as he proceeds.

There is to him a sort of adventurous excitement in his dastardly work which he relishes, until, in his sober moment he half suspects that Destiny may at some unexpected moment pounce upon him and compel him to pay heavily for his foul deeds.

No plotter or defamer ever escapes retributive justice.

Whenever you find a plotter who spends half his time looking for victims, you may rest assured that he carries with him a cargo of hate for his fellow workers and mankind generally.

Instead of "boosting" he "knocks." And he never realizes the enormity of his sin, until he in turn is "knocked."

There is but one way to win in any calling, and that is to be honorable, simple-minded, frank and open-hearted in all your dealings with others.

Do your work well, speak ill of no one and be uniformly kind.

There is the only way to succeed, to win the favor of good, appreciative men and to make a place in life which brings at the time when you most need it generous reward and lasting honor.

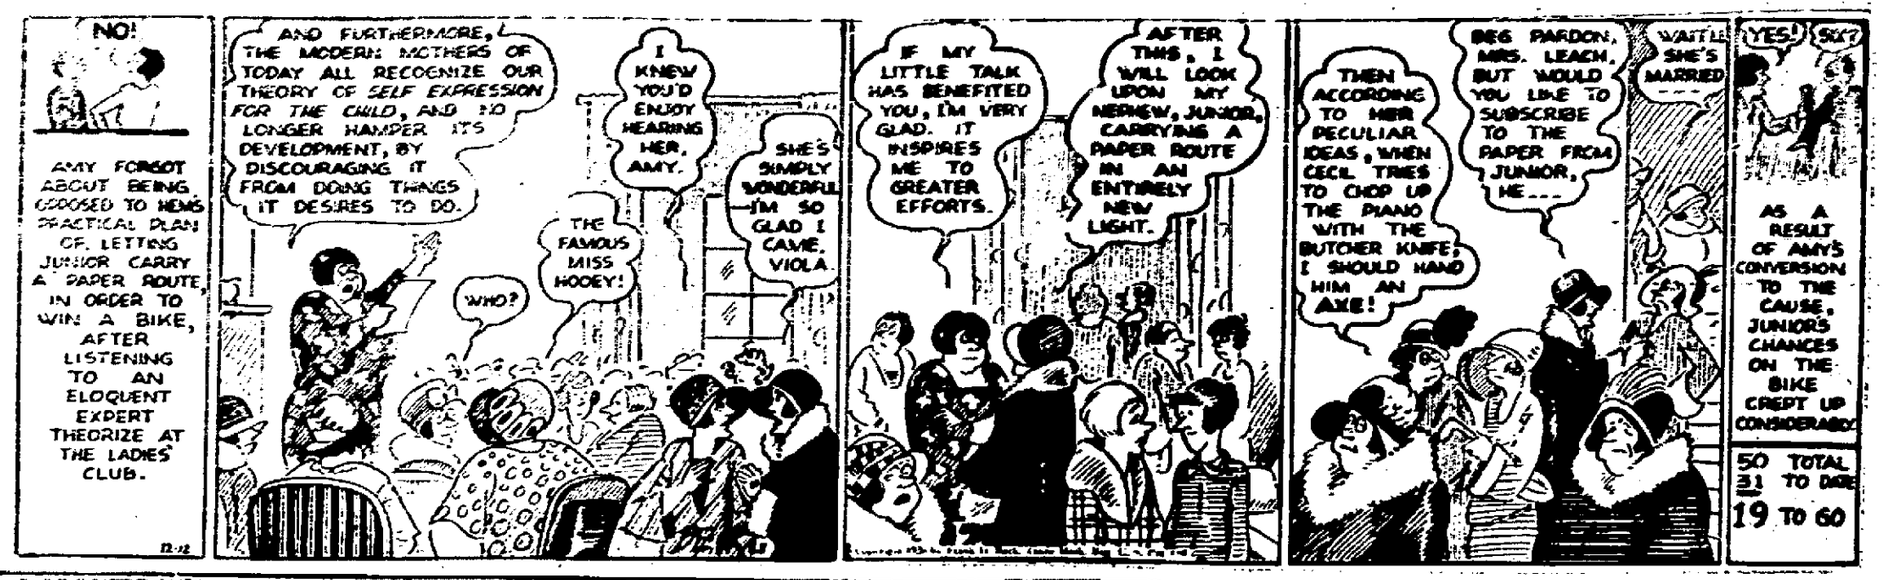
Metal Animals in Color for New Hat Ornaments

A hat ornament that is attracting considerable attention now has designs of animals in color, so put on as to imitate fine enamel work. They are outlined with metal.

Another ornament for the sports costume is a metal fob with a small, narrow bar pin like those used on badges, with two chains of modernistic design, to which a round, square or oblong disk is attached.

GAS BUGGIES—It's a Different Story Now.



MARY'S PARTY

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

MARY'S party's going to be
Wonderful, that's plain to see
Every evening father brings
Something home, a lot of things:
Certain fixtures for the hall,
Candy, too, for one and all,
Really father's spent a lot,
Whether Mary knows or not.

Mary's party will outdo
All the other parties, too.
Brother drove the car 'way out
In the country, all about,
Getting leaves of every tint,
Giving walls an autumn hint,
Berries, too, that shine and gleam,
And the dining room's a dream.

Mary's party's almost here.
For a week, or very near,
Mother's swept and cleaned the place,
Washed the curtains, mended lace,
Polished silver, baked and cooked—
Nothing mother's overlooked.
Yes, they'll soon be saying now
Mary's party was a "wow!"

(© 1928, Douglas Malloch.)

Light From Steam

It is possible to light a cigarette by steam. This was demonstrated by Doctor Andrade of the Royal Institution of London, who produced high-pressure steam hot enough to set fire to a match or a cigarette. The steam which escapes from a teakettle is not really steam. It has ceased to be steam since it has condensed to tiny drops of liquid water. Water steam is invisible gas.

Plenty of Salt

It's too bad other things are not as plentiful as salt. If all the salt mines give out here is still to be had out of the sea waves about a quarter of a pound of salt from every gallon. In cubic miles of salt this amounts to the generously expanded figure of 4,419,360. Let the hens lay. We'll always have the seasoning for the eggs.

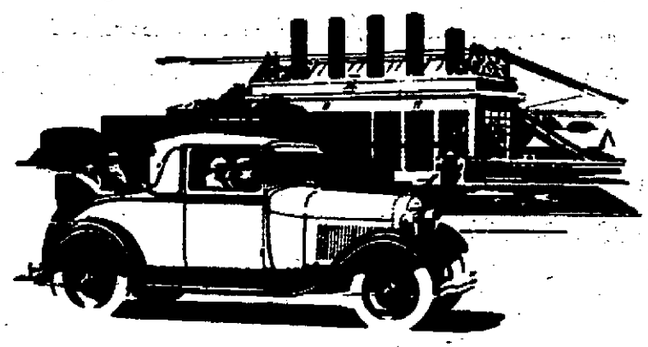
The utilities of a city are combined in your motor car



YOUR automobile is something like a miniature city. There is an electric light and power system, a water system, a fuel system.

In the new Ford, you will find each of these systems of the latest design and built of the best materials. Every part has been made to serve you faithfully and well and at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Take, for example, the generator—one of the most important parts of the electrical system which supplies the current for lighting and for engine ignition.

In the new Ford, the generator is of the power-house type and is distinctive in many features. It has been specially designed to prevent most forms of trouble. Oiling is necessary only once a year. About the only thing you need do is to have the charging rate changed as the seasons change.

Closely allied to the electrical system is the ignition system. It, too, is of new mechanical design in the new Ford. There is but one high tension cable and that connects the coil with the distributor. Even cables from the distributor to the spark plugs have been eliminated. Special care has also been taken to make the distributor water-proof, thus preventing short circuits from rain, etc.

The electrical and ignition systems of the new Ford are so simple in design and so carefully made that they will give you surprisingly little trouble. Yet that doesn't mean they should be neglected. Certain little attentions are needed from time to time.

The storage battery should be given water and the connections kept clean. The generator charging rate should be changed as indicated. Spark plugs should be cleaned at regular intervals. Distributor points should also be kept clean and the distributor cam given a light film of vaseline every 2000 miles.

These are just little things, but they mean a great deal to your car. You can have them looked after at very small cost by the Ford dealer when you take the car in for oiling and greasing.

A thorough checking-up at regular intervals will lengthen the life of your car and give you many thousands of miles of care-free, economical motoring.

Health Rules to Prevent Colds

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—The season of colds, bronchitis, tonsilitis, pneumonia and other diseases of the air passages is with us again.

The reason for the increase in such diseases with the advent of fall and winter is perfectly plain, according to officials of the New York State Health Department. A department bulletin explains it thus:

"With the windows open we get a circulation of fresh air containing a sufficient amount of moisture, but with the windows closed, unless care is taken to secure proper ventilation, the air of the house soon becomes vitiated and unfit to breathe. Moreover, with our modern methods of heating the air soon becomes a great deal drier than the air of the Sahara desert. This dry air takes moisture from the nose, throat and bronchial tubes, irritating these surfaces so that they are not in a condition to repel any disease organism that may be inhaled or taken into the mouth.

"In addition to living under these conditions which make us more susceptible to throat and nose disorders, in cold weather, we are much more apt to go into close, unventilated, crowded halls, theatres and street cars and thus get infected from other persons, especially when they cough and sneeze at us."

After advising the use of receptacles of water placed on heating apparatus to maintain moisture in the home, the bulletin outlines a few health rules for cold weather.

"Don't forget to take brisk daily outdoor exercise to keep well in cold weather. Only a few of the lower animals such as the bear can successfully hibernate.

"Cold water thrown on the chest and throat night and morning, followed by brisk rubbing and exercise has helped many people to withstand sudden changes of temperature. Better still, accustom yourself to a cold plunge followed by a brisk rub down and exercise.

"To sum up, keep well in cold weather by breathing fresh, moist air, both when asleep and awake, by getting plenty of exercise and by avoiding in so far as possible inhaling or taking into the mouth and nose discharges of others."

BEWARE OF THE SWIVEL CHAIR

It's a grand and glorious feeling
For the average business man
To sit down at the desk in his office
While he thinks up a selling plan,
But he finds to his ultimate sorrow
As others before him can swear
That there's many a missing profit
Lost in a swivel chair.
The hope of all business is action
And today more than ever before
Our steps must be high, wide and handsome,
Then keep on a stepping some more:
And it's plain to the fellows who've tried it
If we're going to get anywhere
We will have to adopt for a slogan;
"Beware of the swivel chair".

By the very act, a man who argues with a woman admits himself wrong.

"Jack was held up by two men last night."
"Where?"
"All the way home."

"Open your mouth, please," the dentist asked.
"But what shall I say?" retorted the fair patient.

After Christmas remaineth the indigestion yet awhile.

A granite marker to the 20 persons who died in a dance hall explosion at West Plains, Mo., will mark their graves.

A woman doesn't care whether her doctor knows anything about medicine if he's "sweet" and sympathetic and tells her she needs an operation.

Pay cash and Christmas bills won't cause new year chills.

Laugh and the world laughs with you, tell your ailments and it'll run like the dickens every time it sees you coming.

Another Change Noted.

The effort to keep straight used to be a moral struggle instead of a diet.

RISKY

It is risky to hurry; it is risky to tarry;
Singleness is risky, it is risky to marry.
It is risky to ride; it is risky to walk;
Silence is risky; it is risky to talk;
It is risky to phone; it is risky to write,
The day time is risky and so is the night
It is risky to motor; it is risky to fly;
And, by heck, it is risky for many to die.

We have just found a definition that tells in a few words the difference between modernists and fundamentalists. The modernist says, "There ain't no hell," while the fundamentalist replies, "The hell there ain't".

Anybody can write a book, but it takes a genius to think up a new title to suggest naughtiness.

Shoemaker: "This is the first complaint we have ever had about this make of shoes. Didn't they fit you?"

Macintosh: "Aye, they fit me all right, but they're a wee bit tight for my brother on the night shift."

The man who becomes vice president doesn't have to die to be forgotten.

If you tell your wife you would marry again, that makes her mad. If you tell her you wouldn't on a bet, that makes her madder.

Never Idle

There is no such thing as idle curiosity; it works day and night.—Chicago News.

Not what you do, but how you do it, that counts

EVERYONE knows the story of Gene Tunney. How he fought his way up, until at 30 he has retired, undisputed heavy weight champion of the world. From the very beginning of his career Tunney never once let himself get out of condition.

"I started taking Nujol internally seven years ago. The first month Nujol brought remarkable changes in my physical condition. My elimination became active and normal. Since that time I have taken Nujol about five nights a week. If I discover that I have taken an excess I stop its use for a couple of days, when I renew my daily practice of taking a swallow from the bottle before retiring. I have found during my seven years' experience with Nujol that it is not habit-forming, or in any way unpleasant or harmful."

Nujol contains no medicine or drugs. It is simply a pure natural substance (perfected by the Nujol Laboratories 26 Broadway, New York.) It not only keeps an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them) but aids in their removal.

Favor 10-Man Baseball Teams

New York, Dec 12 (AP).—National League officials are in favor of 10-man baseball teams with pitchers who are good pitchers and nothing more. That's more they will take their plan with them to Chicago for consideration at the joint meeting with the American League tomorrow.

John A. Heydler, just 43—elected for four years as president of the National League, suggested a radical change in the rules whereby weak-hitting pitchers would have somebody else to do their batting and base-running for them. While his club owners inclined a favorable ear, Mr. Heydler explained that he felt the rule change would speed up baseball and at the same time obviate the necessity of having so many pinch hitters.

Said Mr. Heydler:

"With a few exceptions practically all pitchers are weak hitters and weaker base runners. When they come to bat they literally put a drag on the game. No one expects them to do anything, and they simply suspend the action of the play.

"Now it is my idea that this could be eliminated with the adoption of a rule permitting a pinch hitter to bat for the batting for the pitcher each time the pitcher's regular time at bat came round without forcing the removal of the pitcher from the game. This, of course, is only a suggestion and there doubtless are several details that would have to be worked out later.

"For one, I think it would be best if the same pinch hitter did all the batting for one pitcher and that this batter be designated by the manager before game time.

"With the adoption of this rule we would do away with the necessity of seeing a pitcher removed who may be pitching very well but has to make way for a pinch hitter because his team is in need of a run.

"It certainly would increase the action of the game and eliminate much of the delay caused by the changing of pitchers. During the last season in the National League pitchers were removed for pinch hitters about 600 times, and in most cases they were taken out not because they were pitching poorly but because their turn at bat came at a critical moment when a good hitter was needed."

Mr. Heydler pointed out that the rule need not be compulsory so that good-hitting pitchers could be permitted to take their regular time at bat if managers so desired.

Provided the suggestion meets with American League favor it is possible that a special meeting of the rules committee would be called in time to place the suggested change in effect before the 1929 season starts.

Bill Carrigan Pays Ira Flagstead Big Tribute

Bill Carrigan paid tribute to Ira Flagstead, star outfielder of the Boston Red Sox, by calling him one of the finest all around players in the game and a performer with the real old-time spirit.

"I'd like to have a team of Flagsteads," remarked Carrigan. "He's a throwback to the old-fashioned ball player who loves the game and gets a decided kick from playing it. He is a good club man and not at all difficult to handle. I don't like that phrase 'difficult to handle,' but you ask me about it and I answer.

"Big league ball players are not difficult to handle. But, just the same, it is positively refreshing to have a sincere, conscientious fellow like Flagg on your ball club. He's quiet, and yet he is aggressive and wants to win all the time. You may notice that he crowds the plate up there at the bat. That is the type of batter the average pitcher does not like. Flaggy gets knocked down more than any other player on the team, but he is always on his toes, of the quick, nervous type which finds little difficulty getting out of the way."

Chandlers Win Out in Last Period, Y's Men Also Win

Up until the last few minutes it looked as though the Chandlers were going to have a black mark on their clean slate of victories, when they played Port Chester at the Y court Tuesday night night. The final score was 32 to 37 in favor of the Chandlers. The score was nip and tuck up until the end of the third quarter and when this session ended the Port Chester team had rolled up a six point lead. The visitors continued to hold this lead by a safe margin until the last of the battle when the Chandlers came from behind to take the closely contested game from their undefeated opponents. In the preliminary tilt the Y's Men took the Saugerties team over by a score of 36 to 35.

It was quite some time after the game got under way that the Chandlers first scored. Krum dropped one from scrimmage but Steveson shortly after intercepted one of the Chandlers passes and dribbled the ball the whole length of the court to sink a two pointer. Hoffman was then given a free try which he made good and this one-point lead was helped along by Fox who sunk a deuce. Goff then found the hoop from the foul line and Houck tied the score with a field goal, 5-5. From then on no team took the lead by more than two points. When the first quarter ended the local "Y" team had the upper hand 7 to 5.

Blass made a field goal to start things off in the second quarter and Kennedy also made a foul good. Houck and Goff were determined that they wouldn't lose out in the race, each making a basket from scrimmage which put them in the lead. This was the first time that they held the upper hand the score being 12 to 11 in their favor, but it seemed as though they weren't supposed to hold the lead at half time for as the whistle sounded Merritt dropped a two pointer which put the Chandlers in the lead 13 to 12.

In the third quarter the score shifted hands eight times. Immediately after the third session got under way Foudy made a shot from the side of the court which put the score in their favor 14 to 13. Kennedy then made a field goal and the score changed its possesson once more. This last few minutes saw the Port Chester team roll up a six point lead on the Chandlers. The score was 25 to 19 at the end of the third session.

In the early part of the last quarter the Chandlers although they scored now and then their opponents did likewise and it wasn't until late in the period that the Chandlers showed any signs of rallying. The score was 27 to 31 when the Chandlers began to score noticeably. Steveson made a foul and this was the last score that the Port Chester team got. Merritt and Niles both scored, Krum scored twice and it was this that made things change quickly. The score was 37 to 32 in favor of the Chandlers when the game ended.

Y's Men Win.

In the preliminary game the Y's Men had a tough time defeating their opponents. The Saugerties team led several times throughout the contest but through the last part of the final session the Y's Men managed to hold them under their one point lead until the final whistle which left the Y's Men in the lead 36 to 35.

Fails in Her Swim

Mercedes Gleitz, London stenographer and channel swimmer, failed in her attempt to swim the Irish channel. She was forced from the water when the sea suddenly roughened and made further progress impossible. Miss Gleitz had covered 10 of the 22 miles of cold channel water in three and one-half hours when she was forced to abandon her attempt.

Repeat Successful Play.

On Friday evening, December 14, the play entitled "A Family Disturbance", which was successfully presented by the Senior Luther League at Redeemer Lutheran Church recently, will be played again at Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, under auspices of the Senior Luther League.

MAGICAL CHANCE STILL EXISTS, SAYS DR. SHARP.

There was an excellent attendance at the High School on Tuesday evening when the College Woman's Club presented Dr. Dallas Lore Sharp who spoke on "The Magical Chance." In fact the audience was large enough to insure some Kingston High School girl a chance at a scholarship fund for college which will be started from the net proceeds of the lecture last evening. Mrs. Edgar N. Palen, president of the College Women's Club felicitously introduced the speaker, well known as a writer, lecturer, traveler and student of humankind.

Dr. Sharp, who admitted that he was Victorian, is a genial, gracious speaker putting forth his subject in a most entertaining fashion. The Magical Chance which he had especially in mind was that of striking out for some frontier of adventure in order to secure the "stuff" from which to create great literature.

These magical chances have been offered from the time of Moses down, and the speaker cited in more modern times, Dana and his "Two Years Before the Mast;" Thoreau and his "Concord River;" Bret Hart and his "Luck of Roaring Camp;" Jack London and his "Building a Fire," etc.

These writers had escaped from the decorous and the conventional and striking out for their frontiers had arrived notably.

In spite of the wail of the college youth of today that there are no longer any frontiers for him to reach and conquer, the speaker, often in humorous vein, expressed firm faith that today the world is still full of the stuff from which epic poems, great novels can be made if only there is the faith and the imagination to give the human touch to the creative power which shall grasp the "Magical Chance" of our own times as has been done in the past.

Classis of Ulster.

A special meeting of the Classis of Ulster has been called to be held in the Fair Street Reformed Church December 21, at 1:30 p. m. The meeting is called to act on the petition of the Shandaken and Shokan Reformed churches and their pastor, the Rev. B. Charles Ross, for the dissolution of the pastoral relation. Mr. Ross wishes to be released that he may accept the call extended him by the Arlington Reformed Church of Poughkeepsie Classis.

PLYMOUTH...
Still the biggest dollar value
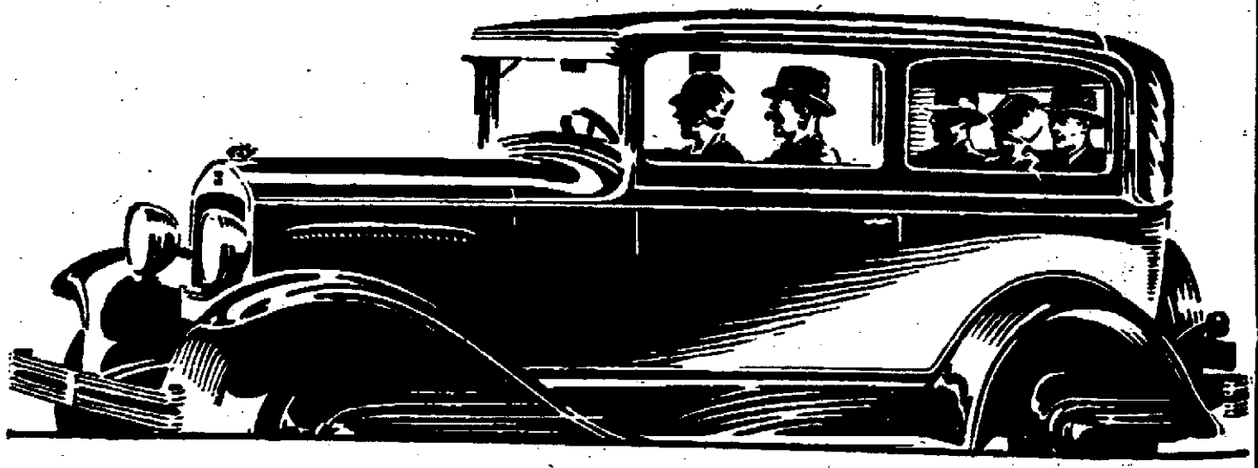
in the lowest-priced field



Full-Size and Comfort—Plymouth is actually the only full-size car in its price field, offering generous head room, leg room and elbow room for five adult passengers.

Marked Economy—Modern, high-compression, 4-cylinder, L-head engine gives marked economy of operation and upkeep. Longer engine life assured by exclusive torque reaction neutralizer, rubber engine mountings. Modern positive pressure feed oiling system.

Hydraulic Brakes—Chrysler light-action internal-expanding hydraulic weather-proof four-wheel brakes are used by Plymouth—a feature possessed by no other car near its price.

Impressive Power—45 h.p. engine gives characteristic Chrysler power, speed and acceleration coupled with unbelievable smoothness of operation. Speed with greater safety due to larger crankshaft bearings, inherent balance and general ruggedness of construction.

WHEN all is said and done the greatest value a motor car can hand back to the buyer for his dollars is the comfort he gets out of every minute and every mile of driving and riding.

This greater degree of hour-by-hour, day-by-day and month-by-month comfort depends first upon that certainty of performance which Chrysler engineering has always given—and gives in superlative measure in the Plymouth.

But it also depends upon the riding and driving proportions of the car—the ease and restfulness of the seats and springs, but above all the size, which in Plymouth enables everyone of the five passengers to relax and stretch without being cramped.

Plymouth owners appreciate further the safety of hydraulic internal-expanding weather-proof 4-wheel brakes which give instant and always positive stopping in any weather.

In action, the Chrysler-built Plymouth is a gem of soft, velvety roadability with a modern, scientific power plant such as you can always count upon from Chrysler engineers.

And a model of economy—not merely in gas and oil mileage of its simple, sturdy, 4-cylinder, L-head engine, but in freedom from complications and a strong simplicity of parts which holds the upkeep costs down to a minimum throughout the year.

Pomona Grange Annual Meeting

(Official Report)

Delegates to the State Grange to be held at Rochester in February were elected at the regular quarterly session of Pomona Grange held at New Paltz, December 6. Those elected are:

Delegate-at-large, Gerow Wilkin, Plattekill.
Mrs. Alice Hartshorn, Highland.
Russell Martin, Milton.
Mrs. Raphael Kline, Ulster Park.
William G. Thornton, Wawarsing.
Mrs. Sylvia Parrish, Lake Katrine.

Brother J. Wells Weaver was again recommended as deputy for Ulster county. Brother Weaver reported a net gain in membership in each Grange during the year, making a total gain of 87 in the county. During the past three years there has been a gain of 270 members which entitled Ulster county to another delegate to State Grange. Never has there been such activity in the Granges, clambakes, fairs, plays, and a lively interchange of visits between the organizations. Deputy Weaver said that though many problems had arisen, they had all been settled by a strict adherence to Grange laws.

The resolutions committee, consisting of Sister Edith Hardenburgh, Lecturer I. C. Barnes, and Brother A. B. Bogart presented the following resolution to the memory of the chaplain of Rosendale Grange: Ulster County Pomona Grange learns with deep sorrow of the death of the Rev. William Cameron. We feel that his high ideals of manhood should be an example for us all to follow and the inspiration of his life will long remain with all whom he came in contact.

Mrs. Harry Vandervoort of Milton Grange was appointed a member of Pomona Home Economics Committee in place of Mrs. Ira Thompson whose term expires with this meeting.

Deputy Weaver announced that newly elected officers of subordinate granges would be installed by State Overseer Raymond Cooper in the following groups:

Monday night—Stone Ridge, Wawarsing, Mt. Tremper, and Hurley.
Tuesday night—Lake Katrine and Asbury.
Wednesday night—Clintondale.
Thursday night—Plattekill.
Friday night—Ulster Park, Highland and Milton.
Saturday night—New Paltz and Rosendale.

After some discussion it was voted to buy $100 of G. L. F. shares.

Lecturer I. C. Barnes then took charge of the meeting and presented the following program:

Song—The Farmer Feeds Them All
Instrumental Duet—Mrs. Edwin D. Miner and Mrs. DeWitt Clinton Seward
Vocal Duet—Dreams of the Summertime—Mrs. Fred Dressel and Mrs. Charles A. Johnson.

Brother Fred Dubois, recently elected master farmer of Ulster county, was introduced and much to his surprise was called upon for a speech.

Brother Kurdt, Farmer Bureau agent, spoke of 4-H clubs and how they were financed.

Brother Barnes lastly introduced Dr. Lawrence Van den Bergh, who spoke first on the history of normal schools in general, then on the subject, "What is it that makes a pupil eligible to normal school". He said that the first normal school in the country was established less than 100 years ago when nearly all teachers held nothing better than an eighth grade certificate of today. For many years the requirement for entrance was an eighth grade certificate and it has only been in the last few years that high school diplomas have been demanded. Besides this they now require statements as to intelligence, moral character, good health, and personality. In the future he said more stress will be laid on hand vocational development and real personality. It was announced that each Grange master in the county was invited to attend a luncheon given by the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The meeting adjourned to meet at Plattekill in March.

Islands Queen's Dowry

The Orkney islands, off the north coast of Scotland, were ruled by jarls (earls) under the supremacy of the kings of Norway from very early times until 1231. These islands and the Shetland Isles became the property of the crown of Scotland as payment of the dowry of the bride of James III of Scotland.

Dicing Ancient Game

In the days of Pompeii dice were often of very elaborate construction, being frequently jeweled, but the game was just the same as followed today. The true age of dice has never been ascertained. According to Sophocles, it was Palamedes, a Greek, who invented them.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—One of England's wealthiest peers, the young Lord Inverclyde, is visiting New York. Jane Seward-Tripp, English actress, who is playing here, has denied that they intend to wed, insisting they are merely friends. Lord Inverclyde came on the Berengaria under the family name of James Alan Burns. He obtained a divorce November 30. He is 31 years old and inherited $4,000,000 made in shipping.

Camden, N. J.—Too many are seeking wealth, in the opinion of Justice Frank S. Katzenback, of the state supreme court. "It is a sad fact nowadays," he told the grand jury, "that a man is judged by his wealth instead of what he has done for his country and state. Money has ruined too many men." Desire for easy money, he added, was a factor in the increase in crime.

White Plains, N. Y.—Thirty-seven years ago, George H. Jones, then a clerk for an oil company in Oil City, Pa., earning less than $100 a month, signed a will of 13 lines leaving all his property to Mrs. Jones. When he died he was chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, a millionaire or more presumably. The same will has been filed in court.

Pawnee, Okla.—Land awarded to Senator Curtis as a Kaw Indian awaits development for oil. Nobody had on it when tribal leases were auctioned.

New York—Katherine Holland Brown, who won $25,000 for a prize novel, received many gratuitous suggestions as to how to spend the money. Most of the suggestors wanted some of it. She is devoting considerable of it to turnip growing contests at Orlando, Fla., in an effort to save negro children from malnutrition. Some is being spent for scholarships in colleges.

New York—The wives of two Roosevelts are certain of their husband's success in their latest undertakings. Mrs. Theodore and Mrs. Kermit so expressed themselves on returning from Europe after accompanying their husbands on the start of an expedition into the wilds of southern Asia.

Boston—The college or the country or the age which combats the influence of every lure which challenges to physical achievement, in the opinion of President Hopkins, of Dartmouth, will become anemic and feeless and uninspiring in all things. Such is his answer to influences toward curtailment of such activities as resulted in death of a student during a hike up Mount Washington.

BLOOMINGTON ATHLETIC CLUB IS APPRECIATIVE

The Bloomington Athletic Club, which was organized almost a year ago for the purpose of giving the men of Bloomington and vicinity a place for recreation during the evenings, is now progressing splendidly. This is, in a great part, due to the excellent cooperation on the part of the residents of Bloomington and vicinity.

The members wish to take this opportunity of thanking all those who, in any way, have contributed to the success of the club. They wish especially to thank Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Session of Creek Locks who have just presented a fine new punching bag to the organization.

The club rooms are open every evening and anyone who is interested in becoming a member will be welcomed.

There will be special music and speakers. The Rev. Mr. Baker, the new pastor of Port Ewen Church, will give the sermon. All our neighbors are cordially invited to attend this service.

"May every one end the old year right, and begin the New Year with God's blessing and approval."

Aviators' Powder Puffs

It is amusing to note that many aviators protect their ears against the roar of the motor by means of tiny velour powder puffs. They are sewn inside the flaps of the helmet.

Po'keepsie Trust Co. Cashier Guilty

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP).—Walter J. Wesley, former assistant treasurer and cashier of the Poughkeepsie Trust Company pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in county court here yesterday and will be sentenced Thursday.

Wesley was accused of embezzling approximately $2[illegible] from bank funds in eight years. Two indictments charging larceny, first degree, and three charging larceny, second degree, were returned against him. His plea covered only one indictment but it was not announced on which charge he would be sentenced.

County Judge Joseph M. Fowler of Ulster county presided at the hearing, because County Judge C. W. H. Arnold of Dutchess county is executive vice president of the trust company and was instrumental in uncovering defalcations. Restitution of the full amount embezzled is said to have been made by Wesley and his relatives and friends.

Slabtown Convention.

The second meeting of the Slabtown convention will be held in St. Mark's Church, Foxhall avenue, Thursday evening, December 13, at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to attend. The convention is a humorous play and is under the direction and management of Mrs. Bessie Wade of Emanuel Baptist Church.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

Motorists Slow to Get Licenses

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 12.—The most elaborate arrangements in its history to facilitate the issuance of automobile registration plates for next year have been made by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. While the plates have been offered to motorists in every county of the state during the last three weeks, only a comparatively small number of automobile owners have registered for 1929. If motorists fail to cooperate with the bureau they alone will be responsible if they are subjected to annoyance which invariably attends the closing days of the year at distributing offices.

Every county clerk in the state, except those in New York city and Albany, where plates are distributed directly from the district offices of the bureau of motor vehicles, has charge of the issuance of license plates. Charles A. Harnett, commissioner of motor vehicles, has increased facilities by enlisting the services of police departments and automobile clubs in supplying the application blanks. In the larger cities additional clerks have been added to the office force to obviate delay.

Owners who find it convenient to apply personally at the county clerks' offices may receive their 1929 plates within a few minutes in exchange for filled out application blanks, renewal stub and the fee which is required by law. Those who cannot readily visit the distributing offices may use the mail in sending in their application blanks, renewal stub and fee, receiving their plates by mail within a short time, if applicants act at once.

In addition to the increased facilities prepared by the bureau the law permits the display on cars of 1929 plates on December 27, five days before the beginning of the year. If the new plates are attached at that time no further attention need be given to registration for another year.

Events Around The Empire State

(By The Associated Press)

Utica—Construction of a modern laboratory for the study of tuberculosis at Saranac Lake is being financed by Hiram Royal Mallinson, wealthy silk manufacturer of New York city, who started work in a Utica store at 9 years of age.

Lake George—The water in Lake George is lower than it has been for many years and boat owners have been experiencing difficulty in bringing their craft ashore to escape anchor ice which has formed in several days.

Whitehall—The annual shipment of live eels from Canada to New York city passed through the Barge Canal a few days ago. There were approximately half a million eels in the shipment.

Manchester—Birds flying about him and evidently trying to attract his attention brought Edward McAvoy, a brakeman on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, to a high shrub near here in time to kill a large blacksnake which was climbing toward a nest of young birds.

Bluff Point—James Gamby of this village has a 19-year-old touring car which he purchased 12 years ago, and which he claims has rolled up more than 200,000 miles since he bought it.

Jamestown—A waitress in a local restaurant recently told a district state health officer that the "pacified" milk now sold here was the best she ever drank.

Dundee—Excellent catches of fur in this vicinity have been reported since the opening of the muskrat season December 1. Among the furs taken have been some fine mink pelts which have brought top prices.

Engaged couples render each other a great deal of lip service.

T. B. Hospital Work Reviewed

lortable as their inadequate structure permits. There was an appreciable improvement in the morale of the patients. The institution ran as smoothly as the handicaps in which it carries on permits. Much of this is due to the efficient work of the headnurse, Miss May Ward. Generous and interested friends made many contributions, outstanding of which were the awnings contributed by the Kingston Elks and the flower boxes by the Ulster County Garden Club and the flower beds contributed by Burgevins and also by Mr. Herb.

Occupational therapy was introduced to the great advantage of the hospital.

The Kingston City Laboratories continued to contribute gratuitously their valuable services.

The county superintendent of highways answered the appeal to repair the road leading to the hospital, which was becoming impassable. The hospital recognized its responsibilities in the preventorium work carried on in the summer by the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health by loaning a nurse for the two months' period.

The repairs fail to keep up with the depreciation of the property and there is no other solution than to abandon the present inadequate plant and have a new one in order to fulfill a tuberculosis program.

The authorities in Albany realize this and they are unrestrained in their criticism of Ulster county. The report of the inspection of the State Department of Charities concludes: "The plant remains as described in previous reports, unsuitable in every way and affording neither facilities for proper treatment or ordinary comfort to the patients. A new site was purchased over a year ago and considerable work has been done on the water supply to it, but actual operations have not commenced. The work of providing a suitable plant should be carried on as rapidly as possible.

"The present buildings are frame and in poor exterior repair although the interiors are kept clean and attractive as it is possible to make them. The rooms were in good order. Laboratory, X-ray and special therapeutic facilities are lacking.

"Two day and one night nurses are employed. The superintendent visits the hospital daily. Records are properly kept and indicate regular care and examinations. The dietary appears suitable and meals properly prepared.

"The erection of the proposed new plant as quickly as possible is needed, the present plant being inadequate and unsuitable."

The report of the inspection of the State Department of Health concludes: "Although the place appears cleaner and the morale of the patients more cheerful than has heretofore been the case nevertheless the progressive shabbiness and deterioration of the buildings is obvious.

"The erection and completion of the new hospital is a project to be looked forward to greatly, with the hope that it will not be long delayed."

To adequately combat tuberculosis there must be facilities for early diagnosis and early treatment which we are lacking in Ulster county at the present time and shall not get until we have a proper hospital to handle the same.

Experience has shown that the incident rate for tuberculosis varies inversely as the expenditures for combating it. In the name of common humanity we're called upon in Ulster county to expend some money for an adequate hospital, a good economic investment when balanced against the cost of the morbidity and mortality of unchecked tuberculosis.

The maintenance of a tuberculosis hospital is mandatory according to the state law upon Ulster county. Public sentiment is in favor of a new and adequate hospital. It is urgently requested that the Board of Supervisors do not ask us to carry on much longer under the present adverse conditions.

The appropriation of $17,500 is requested for the ensuing fiscal year, 1928-1929.

Respectfully submitted,
RAYMOND S. CRISPELL, M. D.
Medical Superintendent Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

COATS FIND THEIR OWN LEVEL AND IGNORE THE DEC'END-ING SKIRT

New York.—A particularly vivid picture of [illegible] is being painted by the fashion [illegible] returning from abroad. This note extends to everything one wears, the curve of the coat, which in its newest interpretations is of the three-quarter persuasion.

Incidentally the short separate jacket vividly colored is now to be had matched to fascinating slippers, usually of the opera pump type. One finds little difficulty in visualizing the chic of such accessories coupled with a white or black frock. It is a delightful hostess ensemble and one in which one may feel at home for those informal Sunday afternoon and evening gatherings which begin at teatime and extend far into the night.

A midwinter season of unrelated things brings the separate coat into the foreground. That it is greatly abbreviated seems consistent with the [illegible] irregularities should prevail, skirts vacillating still on the downward path and a bit uncertain as to the level at which they will find a temporary halt. With such indecision on the part of skirts in general, coats are bound to ignore their caprices and find their own level.

Many authorities are ready to stake their reputation as prophets by crying aloud the return to princess lines, both in dresses and coats. There is a feeling for the semi-fitted line, which is after all the modern version of the princess silhouette. That some of the short and three-quarter coats subscribe to the back dip is of course a logical development. Those with an eye on resort fashions hold a brief for silk coatings and for short cape, and self scarf treatments in lieu of fur.

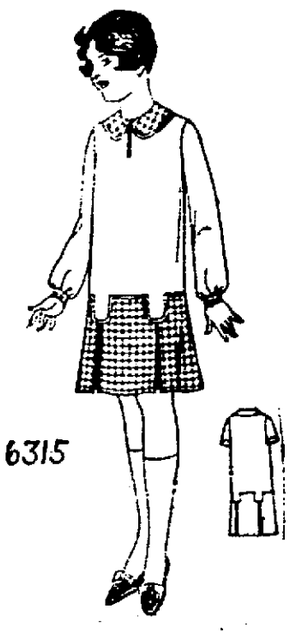
OUR DAILY PATTERN



A Simple, Pleasing Frock For Mother's Girl

6315. Checked suiting is here combined with wool crepe. The dress could also be developed in velveteen or wool georgette with pipings in a contrasting color. Wash materials, gingham, linen and cotton prints are likewise suggested. Long waist portions shaped to form tabs, are joined to skirt portions in which plaits form broad panels. A neat collar and comfortable sleeve complete this becoming model. The sleeve may be made in wrist length or in short length.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. To make the dress as illustrated in the large view for a 6 year size will require 1¼ yard of the plain material and 1⅝ yard of the checked material 36 inches wide. If made entirely of one material 2¾ yards will be required. If made with short sleeves 2⅜ yards is required. To finish with bias binding requires 2 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Fall and Winter 1928 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 20 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

A new baby child of Mrs. George Fisher's was enrolled in the society and the customary gift, a sweater, sent to the infant. The candy committee reported over $3 for the month and the entertainment committee the same amount. The first musical concert in Marlborough in several years past in which the participants were mostly local people, was given Thursday evening in Marlborough Methodist Church. The P.-T. A. arranged the event. The proceeds were for the expense of the town nurse's clinic room.

A most unexpected surprise was given to the people of the Methodist Church of Marlborough Wednesday evening at the annual congregational meeting. It was the announcement by the pastor, the Rev. Herbert Killinder, that he had accepted a call to another church. He will leave Marlborough the first of the year to go to Hyde Park, just north of Poughkeepsie, in Dutchess county. The call to this church came some time ago and at first he refused it, but later when the Hyde Park congregation grew more insistent he yielded to the demands. The pastor there, the Rev. Buckhout, died early in November. The Marlborough pulpit will not be vacant at all. Dr. J. J. Henry, district superintendent, will provide a pastor or at least a pulpit supply at once. Mr. Killinder came to Marlborough from Andes, in the Catskills, in April, 1927. Before that he had been in pastorates in cities in Ohio. He succeeded the Rev. George E. Montrose in the Marlborough Church. Mr. Montrose is now in Spencertown. The minister's unexpectetd announcement was part of the business of the quarterly meeting of the congregation. The various annual reports were made. J. A. Simpson reported the church to be in excellent financial condition. The address of the evening on Methodist Church Workers was made by Dr. Henry. A supper for which no charge was made was served early in the evening. Mrs. William Masten was chairman of the kitchen and Mrs. W. H. Brown of the dining room. About seventy-five adults and twenty-five children were served.

YALE-BOND Flashlight Feature SLOGAN CONTEST
1183 VALUABLE AWARDS
1st Prize $2000
2nd Prize $1000
3rd Prize $500
From the moment you turn off your radio, YALE-BOND "B" Batteries start their own "come-back"
A sharp, bell-like tone from your loud speaker! Volume of sound when you want it! Clear reception of distant stations! That's what you get when your radio "B" batteries are new. But all too often such results are a matter of only the first week or two. Then rapidly the battery's power ebbs.
And so, for years our engineers have worked to develop a battery capable of building back its own power when not in use. At last they have succeeded. The famous YALE-BOND "B" Battery is the result. From the moment you turn off your radio, this remarkable battery starts to recuperate, restoring its own energy just like the human body itself during sleep.
This is why YALE-BOND "B" Batteries deliver ultimately more power and cost less per radio hour than any you have known. For perfect, economical reception, take no chances—buy BONDS!

PLYMOUTH GIVEN RANK OF "CITY"

English Port Famous as Base for British Empire Building.

Washington.—Plymouth, England, long one of the most important English ports, and a community of 200,000 inhabitants, has just been given the rank of "city." The designation was made officially by the king of England. The "new city" is the subject of a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Plymouth is a familiar name to most American ears," says the bulletin, "largely because of its American namesakes. There are more than a score of post offices bearing the name in the United States in addition to the two that are most famous: one the Massachusetts landing place of the Pilgrim Fathers, and the other a tiny mountain village in Vermont where a President was sworn in by lamplight in a humble farmhouse.

The Hoe Overlooks the Barbican.

"But if a traveler from the United States fancies that he will be entirely on familiar ground when he visits the original Plymouth, the strange names he encounters will soon disillusion him. He may land at the Barbican, which is a famous old quay. Above him rises the Hoe—not an enshrined garden implement, but a height of land with a park on it. To his right stretches the Catwater, though he would be inclined to insist that it is merely the mouth of the River Plym. Farther to the left lies the Hamoaze, a part of the estuary of the River Tamar. And behind the city rise the Mannamead hills.

"Plymouth lies midway along the south shore of the great peninsula of southwest England whose point is the well-known Lands End. It is surrounded by ports that once flourished; but of these Plymouth has had continuing prosperity and steady growth. It owes its importance to several geographic factors. In the first place, Plymouth sound, especially since the construction of the huge breakwater in 1841, furnishes excellent anchorage. From it numerous inlets extend into the land, affording further protection and quay space. Plymouth has been fortunate, too, in being the westernmost of the large channel ports. Its ships bound southward and eastward could drop straight south without a detour to round Brittany, the 'spout' of the French 'teapot.' It was equally well placed for voyages to America.

"As a result, by the end of the Fourteenth century, Plymouth ranked fourth in population among English towns, being succeeded only by London, Bristol and York. And in Elizabethan times it became the foremost port of all England. The delay in raising Plymouth to the city status is emphasized by the fact that it was the first English town to receive a parliamentary charter. This was nearly five hundred years ago.

"Plymouth, more than any other English city, may be considered the home base of operations for the building of the British empire. In the period of colonization, and in the period in which the British navy was fighting its way to supremacy, expedition after expedition sailed from Plymouth or came triumphantly into its harbor, while the populace stood on the Hoe giving a noisy farewell or an enthusiastic welcome. Plymouth's greatest day was when news came that the Spanish Armada was in sight, and the fleet of Drake and Hawkins weighed anchors and sailed out of the sound to start the destruction that storms completed. The Armada memorial on the Hoe commemorates this great event.

Stone Marks Mayflower Sailing.

"There is another monument that is more interesting to Americans: a stone set in the Barbican marking the spot from which the Mayflower sailed in 1620 to plant the seeds of New England. In the Guild hall is a stained-glass window also commemorating the sailing of the Pilgrim Fathers.

"In the Fourteenth century Plymouth was the favorite port of numerous freebooters who harried the French coast and French shipping. Later much of the wealth that came to the city had its origin in activities against treasure ships on the Spanish Main.

"Still later came the more constructive period of colonization and trade. Ships sailed from Plymouth to plant colonies in the New world, and to lay claims to areas in India, the South seas and Africa, which have since become important parts of the far-flung British empire.

"Little of the Plymouth of the Elizabethan heyday remains. The homes of numerous old sea captains as well as dwellings where Drake, Hawkins, Frobisher, Raleigh, Howard, and Gilbert sojourned, have given way to modern buildings. St. Andrews church, part of it dating from the Fourteenth century, is probably the oldest structure. It is one of the largest parish churches in England. In it prayed Sir John Hawkins prior to his slaving expeditions to the Guinea coast. His injunctions to his men showed his religious training as well as a practical turn of mind: 'Serve God daily, love one another, preserve your victuals, beware of fire, and keepe good companie.'

"The harbor of Plymouth always presents a busy and cosmopolitan aspect. Behind the breakwater one sees ships from the ends of the earth, fishing boats, torpedo boats, tugs, ocean liners, and now and then a huge battleship. In the Sound lies Drake's island, on which, in the less tolerant days that sent the Pilgrims to America, Baptist ministers were imprisoned.

"A famous voyage from west to east connected America and Plymouth a few years ago as the Mayflower connected them in the reverse direction three centuries before. The NC-4, first airplane to fly across the Atlantic, taxied up to the Barbican in June, 1919, after flying north from Portugal."

Early America's Story Sought in Lore Abroad

Washington.—Continuing a search of 20 years, Dr. Samuel Flagg Bemis of George Washington university is in Europe on a two years' leave of absence unearthing documents which may throw light on the settlement of America.

He has with him two photostat machines costing $4,000, with which to get facsimiles of documents where he cannot secure the originals. His search has taken him through England, France and Spain, and will include Holland, Germany and perhaps other countries. At present Doctor Bemis is working in the British museum and the public record office in London.

The work, which is expected to be invaluable to historians, was made possible by a gift from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of $450,000 to be paid over a period of five years.

Metallurgist Predicts Use of Aluminum Garb

Berlin.—The day is not far distant when people will wear clothing made of aluminum, says Dr. James Rabinfeld, metallurgist expert.

He points out that thin aluminum already is used successfully for the interior decoration of airplanes, for the outside covering of shoes and on fancy pocketbooks and ladies' vanity bags.

From this Doctor Rabinfeld argues, it is but a step toward the use of aluminum as a substitute for cloth.

"Already," he says, "Germany exports to Italy aluminum brocades for use in the manufacture of ladies' garments, woven of fine aluminum threads. There is little danger that these materials will tear or crumple," he says, "because the sensitive metal has been neutralized and made capable of stretching through layers of cellulose superimpressed upon it."

More Speculation as to "First Americans"

Did the natives of the New world communicate with the inhabitants of the Old world before the discovery of America by the Norsemen about the year 1000? This is always an interesting question for speculation, says Pathfinder Magazine. Carlos Mercado, a Latin American investigator, reports that near Esmeraldas, in Ecuador, he excavated pieces of pottery containing inscriptions resembling Egyptian hieroglyphics, Arabian numbers and drawings indicating Greek, Phoenician and Mongolian characteristics. These articles were found in the ruins of an ancient Indian civilization.

Mercado states that he spent seven years excavating with a view of unearthing valuable metals. More than 10,000 archaeological pieces were discovered. One piece is described as resembling a reproduction of the tower of Babel, and a stone figure supposes famous embracing the fragments of two stone columns. The pieces also contain what seem to be Aztec or Mayan inscriptions.

Surest Way of Getting It
It's a good plan to hope for the best, but it's a better plan to work for it.

Matters Before The Surrogate

The value of the estate of Elizabeth Marchant of the town of Esopus whose will, executed December 12, 1927, has been admitted to probate in surrogate's court, is given at less than $4,000 real; less than $12,000 personal. Letters testamentary have been issued to Henry E. Marchant and Charles F. Marchant who were named executors in the will. Mrs. Marchant died November 25, 1928. To grandchildren, Shirley A. Marchant and Evelyn Marchant there is devised $100 each; to daughter, Josephine A. Motaling, is devised the real estate for life. She to occupy same with her family during life, but if she does not desire so to do the executors are granted power to sell the same. The residue of estate is left to three daughters and two sons. Henry E. McKenzie attorney for the petitioners.

HE MADE A MILLION
Buying Bargains

Russel Sage once clerked in a Grocery Store. Later on he owned the whole works. When asked for the keynote of his success he replied: "BUY YOUR STRAW HATS IN WINTER." He bought BARGAINS when BARGAINS were offered.

WHAT IS A BARGAIN?

A BARGAIN is something acquired at a low price. It is an advantageous purchase. It is buying when the seller is anxious to sell under the market value. All these quasi-millionaires made their buying BARGAINS and selling again for more than it cost them.

I have a BARGAIN for sale right now. It is a HOME of Colonial design located in a desirable section of Kingston, 156 Hurley avenue. The house stands in a lot about 60'x110' and offers shade from three unusually large spreading maple trees. A garden in the rear of the house which is planted with old fashioned perennials lends an added charm. This home which is modern in every respect includes an oil burner, electric refrigerator, white enamel gas range, and a two car garage, will be sold at a sacrifice.

It is no doubt a bargain and cannot be duplicated in this city.

Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief as effectively as the messy old mustard plaster.
Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

Gents Friend, Finds He's a Holdup Man

Kansas City, Mo.—John Paisel, owner of a restaurant, was alone in his place of business when in walked a former waiter.

"Hello, Jimmy," greeted Paisel.

"You recognize me, I see," the visitor grimaced.

"What are you doing these days?" inquired Paisel.

"It would be a surprise to you," answered the former waiter and drew a gun.

"Oh, you are a policeman?" Paisel said.

"Oh, no, just what the police are looking for," Jimmy answered cheerfully as he ordered Paisel to open his cash drawer. After taking the money the waiter ordered his former boss to the kitchen and escaped.

"DEAD" SOLDIER IS BACK HOME AGAIN

He Was Town's First Reported Killed in War.

Chesley, Ont.—Chesley's first soldier reported killed in the war has returned from the dead. He came back from California to find his name heading the list on the town's war memorial. And now Chesley wonders what should be done about it.

Joost Wilhelm Van Os, his body still showing the signs of war battering, has convinced his old comrades that he is neither an apparition nor an imposter.

He is back at his old job and every day walks past the memorial where his name heads the list of "the glorious dead."

Van Os doesn't care what the town does. It can remove his name if it likes. But in the meantime he is enjoying the ante-mortem thrill of reading his own obituary.

There is no precedent in Canada to govern the case and it looks as if Chesley would continue to honor as dead one of its living citizens.

Van Os was left for dead in no man's land. His identification disk was taken off his neck, given to the commanding officers and forwarded to his next of kin. He was Chesley's first soldier to enlist, the first reported dead and the first to head the list of heroes on the town's granite obelisk.

Goat Eats Dynamite —and Town Shivers

Aurora, N. Y.—A common or tin-can-eating variety of black and white goat spent a considerable period without food recently all because of his voracious appetite. It was a very hungry goat, yet the residents of Aurora unanimously agreed that they would let the goat starve before they would feed it.

Cruel, perhaps; but these folks had their reasons. For the goat had just eaten two sticks of dynamite.

The man who owns the goat saw it swallow the last stick of the deadly explosive. Before he realized what he was doing he had tied it up in the barn. Then, reflecting on the risk he was taking, he nearly had nervous prostration.

After that the townfolk sat shivering in their homes waiting for the goat to blow up and take the town along. The goat did not explode—but it was a very hungry animal before its owner fed it again.

Crazed Polish Peasant Kills 7 With Bayonet

Warsaw, Poland.—A peasant became crazed in the village of Smidy, in Molhynien and killed seven persons with a bayonet, including two policemen. He wounded five others.

The peasants were holding a meeting in a school building when one, named Mezowiec, started a quarrel. He was forcibly expelled. When police came Mezowiec seized a rifle from one and stabbed him to death with the bayonet. Some of the peasants rushed to aid the policeman and the madman struck out with the bayonet in all directions.

In prison he explained that he had thought he saw a devil.

Gives Up Wife Rather Than Change Neckties

Los Angeles.—Happiness hung on neckties for Arthur J. Brown, deputy sheriff. The officer related his troubles to Judge Joseph P. Sproule, who gave him a divorce from Edith J. Brown.

"She said I had an inferiority complex," testified Brown. "She wouldn't go out with me, but always kept nagging about my neckties. She said they were too loud. I didn't think so; they were just colorful. A fellow has to have a bit of color now and then. She said that if I didn't change my neckties she would leave me; I stuck to my guns and she left."

The couple married a little more than a year ago.

Swallows Safety Pin

Denver, Colo.—Virginia Hodges, eighteen years old, of 322 West Fourth avenue, tried to do three things at once the other night, chew gum, pick her teeth with a safety pin and whistle. The attempt ended disastrously and another patient was chalked up at Denver General hospital. Virginia forgot the gum, and the safety pin, in the desire to whistle. She swallowed both.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 12 (AP).—Reactionary price tendencies again cropped out in today's stock market. The rally which had been under way since Monday appears to have run its course. Although some disappointment was apparent that call money should renew at 8 per cent, after being as low at 6½ in the outside market yesterday afternoon, there was nothing in the day's business news to influence the selling movement. Early gains of 3 to nearly 15 points were, in many cases, converted into losses of similar extent.

Weekly steel trade reviews were again optimistic in character, Iron Age reporting that "steel production is exceeding expectations as the year-end approaches, and the business outlook for the early part of 1929 is promising."

Purchase of a large block of stock of the Standard Milling Company by Gold Dust is but one of a series of consolidations and new business associations reported impending.

A wide-open break of 15 points in Houston Oil, which sold down to 102, or 65 points below the year's high, confirmed fears that the market had not been purged of all weak spots in last week's drastic reaction. This tended to chill speculative enthusiasm for other high-priced specialties.

Radio and Wright Aeronautical cancelled their early gains of 8 to 7 points, respectively, and sold below last night's final quotations. A. M. Byers dropped nearly 11 points, Adams Express 10, Johns Manville 8, Packard Motors 6 and Industrial Rayon, May Department Stores, Montgomery-Ward, Goodyear, Associated Dry Goods and General Motors sold 4 to nearly 6 points below yesterday's final quotations.

Weakness of the merchandising issues was attributed in some quarters to expectations that the recent decline in stock prices would impair holiday trade. Fears of the "secondary reaction", which invariably follows the first brisk rally after a sharp decline, also stimulated the liquidation of stocks, particularly by traders and investors who did not reduce their commitments in the first wave of selling, and by pools and bankers who bought stock for supporting purposes.

Around Orchard

PRUNING DONE TO IMPROVE ORCHARD

Simple Directions Are Given to Help Orchardist.

Pruning is the first work of the season in the orchard and is the first step to be taken in improving an old or neglected orchard. It is a waste of time and spray material to spray unpruned trees, as much diseased and insect-infested wood is removed in pruning.

Following are simple directions for pruning:

1. Step away from the tree to get a good look at it, noting its general shape and habit of growth. Keep its form in mind while pruning.
2. Cut out all dead branches.
3. Cut out all branches which are badly diseased, or infested with insects.
4. Remove the poorer of crossed and crowded branches.
5. Go over the entire tree with hand shears removing small branches here and there to admit sunlight and air evenly to all parts of the tree.
6. Remove water sprouts.

Here are a few "don'ts" to keep in mind when pruning:

1. Don't head back. That is, do not cut the end of a limb off the top of the tree in hope of controlling the length or height of its growth.
2. Don't leave stubs when removing branches.
3. Don't use the saw any more than necessary. Shears is the tool with which an inexperienced pruner can do the least damage.

Propagating Grapes by Cutting Is Best Plan

The only method of propagating grapes, to be sure they will come true to name, is by cuttings. Grape varieties, of course, are not pure lines and therefore would not reproduce themselves. For instance, from the Concord grape you might either get a blue, a red, or a white variety. It might be equal to, better, or inferior to the Concord in size and quality. It is not difficult to propagate the grape, however. Cuttings should be taken after the wood is well ripened this fall, making a cut at the base of a bud and allow two to three buds to a cutting. These should then be tied in bundles in a well-drained place until early spring. Or, they can be placed in a box of sawdust or sand and put in a cold, moderately moist place. In the spring the cuttings that have survived should be set out in the garden, leaving only the top bud above the ground. At the end of the first or second year they can be transplanted to their permanent location.

Pruning Trees Good Job for Cold Weather

Pruning of the trees should be looked after right away. It is safe to do so any time from now up to the time the leaves begin to expand. Thinning out the surplus branches will greatly aid one in operating the sprayer when that time comes, and the job of spraying will be much more efficient, because the spray can be more evenly applied to the surface of both foliage and fruit. There will be very little damage to either fruit or tree if a film of the spray covers the surface of both. Naturally old apple trees that have not been pruned cannot be treated as effectively as those that do not carry so much bearing wood. Probably then the greatest gain obtained by pruning is indirect, that is, by making it easier to do a good job of spraying. Good spraying will account for 90 or 95 per cent of the combined gain brought about by both pruning and spraying.

Horticultural Facts

Do not head-in or cut off the tops of twigs or branches.

• • •

Do not try to change the habit of the growth of the tree, nor take out enough wood to greatly alter its shape.

• • •

The scale insects cannot be killed by a poison which will soak into the pores, as they are too well protected by a gummy scale of wax, beneath which the insects operate.

• • •

Healthy trees can be killed, in from two to three years, after they have become incrusted with the scale pests which suck the sap and destroy the vitality of the trees, making them more susceptible to other diseases or insects.

• • •

Cuttings of grapevines should be made in the fall, or at least before there is any starting of sap in spring. When made in fall, there is time for a healing or callusing of the cut ends, so a better stand may be had.

• • •

The number of apples on an overloaded tree may be reduced as much as 25 or even 30 per cent, without reducing the yield. That means that you have just as many bushels of apples, but since the apples will be larger they will be more easily harvested and marketed.

Famous Sculpture

The Venus de Medici is attributed to Kleomenes and was found in Rome in the Sixteenth century. When found it was in thirteen pieces and was restored by Bernini. It was brought to Florence by Cosimo de Medici III in 1680.

He was also a member of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, the State Firemen's Association and the Exempts of this city. There were but few conventions that he missed attending and he had one of the largest collections of delegate's medals in Kingston. Mr. Plough was familiarly known among his wide circle of friends as "Jonah", a nickname he had acquired in his youth and which clung to him through his life. Mr. Plough was employed by the city and was known as an earnest and faithful worker. He is survived by his wife, a brother, Frank Plough of this city, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Burhans of Stone Ridge. Funeral services will be held from the chapel of A. Carr & Son, No. 1 Pearl street, on Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Interment in the Hurley cemetery.

Legend Shows Indians' High Sense of Humor

A stoic he may have been but in many of the hardships that made him stoical the American Indian displayed a humorous appreciation of the desperate situation that ranked him with the best of all philosophers—those who can and do laugh at life. Witness his legend of the naming of Tusquittee Bald, a mountain in western North Carolina.

Long, long ago a great drought seared the very heart of summer in the Appalachian country, many mountain streams drying up so that large numbers of fish and animals perished. One day a hunter, throat parched, but canny in seeking a deep-water hole where there might be sustenance his arrows could obtain, heard strange voices nearby. Stepping in that direction, he discovered it was two water dogs. They were walking about on their hind legs on the dry bottom of their pond and discussing the drought.

One of them said to the other, "Where is the water? I am so thirsty that my apron (meaning his gills, presumably) hangs down almost to the ground and I fear I shall tread upon it."

Then both water dogs laughed. Tusquittee means, therefore, "Where the water dogs laughed."—Detroit News.

Firefly's Tail Light Diffuses Little Heat

The fireflies, or "lightning bugs," which dance in the twilight, carry torches that burn on the same principle as a lighted candle. That is to say, they combine a combustible substance with oxygen and produce light. The great advantage enjoyed by the firefly is that his tail light makes so little heat; it can fairly be called "cold light."

The substance consumed to produce the firefly's light is luciferin. The shining of fireflies, and of other animals and plants, used to be called phosphorescence, because it looks like the light given off by a piece of rubbed phosphorus in the dark.

But it is not caused by phosphorus. Luciferin really means "light-bearer." By itself it does not glow, but a second substance known as luciferase, present in all luminous organisms, causes it to combine with oxygen, and this makes the luminescence.

Watermelon Long Known

According to Master Graves, the watermelon abounded in Massachusetts in 1620, only nine years after the landing of the Pilgrims. The Indians lost little time adding it to their list of cultivated plants. In 1664 the Florida tribes were cultivating it in their fields of maize, and nine years later Father Marquette found among the western tribes melons "which are excellent, especially those with a red seed." The tribes on the Colorado river were cultivating watermelons before the death of George Washington. It is easy to see how the watermelon spread so quickly to all parts of the American continent, because the seeds can easily be carried from place to place and planted, and because the Indians showed a fondness for the fruit from the beginning.

The Installment Age

All the morning the teacher had been trying to teach her very small pupils the mysteries of simple addition.

One small boy seemed far behind the others at grasping even the simplest of ideas, and with him the harassed teacher spent quite a lot of time.

"Look here, Leonard!" she began for the fifth time. "Let's suppose your father saves $3 every week for four weeks. What will he have at the end of that time?"

Leonard had his answer ready.

"A graphophone, a new suit, a wireless set and new furniture for the house," he replied proudly.

Breakfast Gong

A husband appeared in the kitchen before the call for breakfast. "Did you think I called you to breakfast?" asked the surprised wife.

"I didn't need to be called. I heard you scraping the burns off the toast," replied the compatible husband.

Sing Sing

Sing Sing is a famous New York state prison located at Ossining, a town on the Hudson river about 30 miles north of New York city, says the Kansas City Times. The town itself was originally also called Sing Sing, supposedly from the Sing Sing or Sint-sink tribe of Indians, who once lived in that vicinity. In 1901 the name of the town was officially changed to Ossining, the old name having become objectionable to the inhabitants because of its popular association with the penitentiary. "Ossining" is merely a different form of "Sing Sing," both words being corruptions of the Delaware Indian word "assinesink," literally meaning "at the small stone." There is nothing to the popular story that Sing Sing was named after a friendly Indian whom the whites called John Sing Sing.

It is expected that many men will shop at the Wonderly store Friday night, when only men will be admitted and with only men to serve.

KINGSTON

Station XMAS At Van Wagenen's

Santa Claus, who is stationed at the L. B. Van Wagenen store on Wall street, certainly is becoming a real modern old fellow. Last week he flew over Kingston in a plane and, now, he has gone in for the more modern—radio. In the basement of the store he has set up a radio station which he has given the call letters of X-M-A-S. From this station he has an assistant broadcasting the many values and gifts offered at the store. He also puts on the air a splendid musical program and many special features from the youngsters who visit him. To every child who speaks over the radio, Santa offers the opportunity of winning a valuable prize.

There are several loud speakers at the store through which one may hear the program broadcast from station X-M-A-S. The large speaker that is in front of the store attracting especial attention from the large crowds of Christmas shoppers who are on the uptown streets daily. Tuesday afternoon there was a very large audience who listened to two little ladies sing a duet for which they were applauded by old Santa himself.

2 Hurt When Taxi Hits Ambulance

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP).

A woman and a man were seriously injured here yesterday when a taxicab and an ambulance collided while the latter was on its way to the hospital with a patient.

The Vassar Brothers Hospital ambulance was taking Mary Soels, six years old, to the hospital for treatment for burns from which she died an hour later. In the ambulance were Mrs. Howard Soels, the child's mother; Dr. Ford Lucas, an interne at the hospital, and Nial Markle, the driver. The taxicab was driven by Charles Howe, 26, a negro.

The collision occurred at a street intersection. The ambulance was driven across the sidewalk and against the porch of a house. The porch was damaged and the side of the ambulance was crushed.

Mrs. Soels and Howe were taken to the hospital where authorities reported the woman had internal injuries, a fractured shoulder and severe lacerations. Howe was reported to have internal injuries, a probable fractured shoulder and sprains and contusions. Dr. Lucas and Markle were bruised and shaken but escaped serious injury.

According to hospital authorities, the child was playing with a newspaper in her home just outside Poughkeepsie, and shoved the paper in the open grate of a kitchen range. The paper blazed up, igniting her clothing and burning her from head to foot before her mother could extinguish the flames.

Dr. Lucas was hold the child in his arms at the time of the collision and she was said to have escaped injury from the impact.

KING RETURNS FROM SALESMEN'S CONVENTION

Al. King of 73 North Front street has returned home from Grand Rapids, Mich., where he attended a salesmen's convention and inspected the new Neon tube signs for which he has been appointed sales distributor for New York state. The James Neon Lights Co., Inc., with a capital of $875,000 will erect a factory at Battle Creek, Mich., where the new Neon light signs will be manufactured in addition to the manufacture of the glass letter and non-breakable signs as in the past. In addition to the factory at Battle Creek service plants will be maintained in many of the principal cities throughout the country.

The new Neon signs are a recent improvement over the old line in that the tubes are protected from breakage. Neon signs are manufactured of glass tubing filled with Neon gas taken from the air and are said to require much less current to operate.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception Tuesday afternoon and early evening was weak but later was very strong and clear. Western stations were especially good. "Lend Me Your Eyes, Pretty Baby," is the latest and sloppiest song from which there is no escape.

The National Capital is ready to pay homage to winners of the Second National Radio Audition. President and Mrs. Coolidge will receive and congratulate these five girls and five young men, who have been adjudged America's best amateur singers, when they assemble there Friday, December 14, from all sections of the country, for the tour of Washington, which is one of the rewards given national winners of the audition. Vice President Dawes also will receive the song champions in his office in the U. S. Capitol. Leading members of Congress will be their hosts at luncheon in the Capitol's private dining room. From Washington, the Audition winners will go to New York, to sing over radio next Sunday for awards of $17,500 in cash, in addition to conservatory scholarships offered by the Atwater Kent Foundation. They, with accompanists or chaperons, will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn at the Metropolitan Opera Company's presentation of "Madame Butterfly" the evening before contesting for the awards. Mr. and Mrs. Atwater Kent will be with the opera party.

Legion Auxiliary Meeting.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Kingston Post, No. 159, American Legion will hold the monthly meeting on the second Friday of this month, December 14, instead of the regular date owing to the coming holidays. A package social will be held, which is expected to increase the treasury. All members are asked to be present.

Whishers

Possibly the first big mistake that our generation of men made was to discard whishers. We committed social suicide with the razor.—Abraham Hoben.
